ATLANTA IN MOUTH OF EVERY SHRINER AT THE CONVENTION

Yaarab Patrol and Drum Corps From Atlanta Arrive in Dallas and Are Greeted With Cheering Reception

ATLANTA SURE OF THE CONVENTION IN 1914

Adair Talks With Shriners From Canada to Honolulu, and Says That Atlanta Is the Only Answer

BY RAYMUND DANIEL,
Journal Staff Correspondent.

DALLAS, May 12.—Fifteen thousand nobles of the Ancient Arabic order of the nobles of the Mystic Shrine are registered in Dallas for the big conclave of the imperial council, which convenes here Tuesday.

"We will be registered in Atlanta in 1914," is the concensus of the opinion of the majority of the representatives and delegates.

The support that has been pledged to the Atlanta representatives was augmented Monday by the arrival of other delegations. Representatives of New Foundland and Canada, British Columbia, Vancouver, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Massachusetts, Oregon and other states. The entire voting strength of the states were pledged by the different representatives.

The Atlanta delegation is confident of winning, and to talk with practically every other state delegation, except Tennessee, where Memphis is fighting for the convention, brings the same answer, that Atlanta will win.

The Atlanta delegation is attracting great attention. Theil natty uniforms of the patrol and the drum corps are meeting with compliments. The Arab contingents, the patrols, from Indianapolis, the elites from British Columbia, and the Memphis band and patrol are the center of all interest.

Memphis is making a great outside fight for the convention, but those who know say that Atlanta will win. The great popularity of Illustrious Potentate Forrest Adair, with the wide acquaintanceship of Joseph C. Greenfield, honorary thirty-third degree Scotish rite, and officers of practically every grand Masonic body, also Grand Guard E. A. Cutts, of Savannah, and Past Potentate Hynds of Yaarab Temple, are leading a fight that all say will win.

In fezzes, silks and plushes, the Shriners overran the business section of the city, turning the streets into a merry-making carnival, and when the sun got hot they began marching, singing and band playing in the business buildings.

The Memphis contingent, 150 strong, announced that they would take a long nap and then show Texas a real parade during the afternoon.

THE JOURNAL'S EXTRAS.

One patrol of half a dozen, which did not have a band, kept busy wheeling into military formation and saluting ladies, and doing it so decorously they drew continued applause.

"Extras" of The Atlanta Journal were distributed on the streets of Dallas today for the first time as a part of the Atlanta Shriners' campaign. The papers described what would happen to Nobles who visited Atlanta in 1914 and how the $75,000 entertainment fund was raised.

Medinar temple of Calgary, Manitoba, Canada, paraded behind a Highland band in kilts, whose members' knees turned pink under the hot sun.

"It's Atlanta and nothing else for the next conclave of the imperial council of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine," is the declaration of Forrest Adair, illustrious potentate of Yaarab temple of Atlanta.

"I have been studying every phase of the situation, and have met and talked with Shriners from Canada to Honolulu," said Mr. Adair, "and Atlanta is the only answer."

The view of Mr. Adair is expressed by all the members of the Atlanta contingent, which arrived in Dallas early Sunday morning, over the Texas and Pacific on schedule time. The trip, which began in Atlanta Friday night, was one continuous program of receptions and entertainment, but the most pleasing result of the entire time between then and Sunday morning when all indications pointed to Atlanta's selection as the convention place in 1914.

The Memphis delegation has been here for three or four days, working like beavers, and they are still working and expect to continue their labors until the ballots are counted. But there is the feeling of certainty that Atlanta will win.

"It is the $75,000 in one day that Atlanta pledged that will give us the meeting," said Mr. Adair Sunday. "The general sentiment is for Atlanta, and we are receiving assurances of votes that we had been afraid of having to solicit.

EVERY SHRINER KNOWS.

"It seems that every Shriner in the United States has heard that Atlanta gave this money, and the Memphis delegation just cannot argue the fact down."

The selection of the convention city will probably be taken up in the committee on Tuesday, and the report of the committee will be made upon the floor of the imperial council Wednesday morning.

There is a bare possibility that the committee will make its report Tuesday evening, although it may be delayed until Wednesday morning.

This committee will be appointed at the opening session of the imperial council on Tuesday. It is to be named by Imperial Potentate Cunningham. The invitations of Atlanta and Memphis will be presented to the committee and the arguments will be made then.

If the committee's report is adverse to Atlanta, then the representatives of the Yaarab temple will carry the fight to the floor of the convention. The fight for Atlanta's selecion will be led by Potentate Adair and Past Potentate Hynds, who are the representatives of Yaarab temple.

"And we will whip Memphis on the floor, if the committee goes against us."

WILSON SAYS ALIEN LAND LAW DOES NOT VIOLATE JAP TREATY

President Declares That Situation Between United States and Japan Has Not Reached an Alarming Stage

NEGOTIATIONS THUS FAR ARE FRANK AND FRIENDLY

Japan's Protest Is Not Founded on Claim That Treaty Will Be Broken, but Against Discrimination

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Wilson believes negotiations between Japanese and the United States over the alien land legislation in California are not in an alarming stage, but that the interchange of views thus far have been along frank and friendly lines calculated to remove the appearance of discrimination against Japanese subjects.

The president, discussing the subject informally today, took the position that the Webb bill would not violate the treaty between Japan and the United States. He intimated that Japan's protest was not founded upon a claim that the treaty would be broken in any way, but upon the feeling that there was an effort to discriminate against Japanese on the ground of their alleged ineligibility to citizenship.

The president revealed that the question of naturalization had not yet entered into the discussion with the Japanese ambassador, but that of course, underlying the bill, it was realized that federals courts had not finally passed upon the question of eligibility.

It was upon the basis that Japanese were not accorded the privileges of citizenship that the appearance of discrimination written in the bill had arisen, and it was intimated at the White House that for the present, the hope was that the legislation in California either would be vetoed by Governor Johnson or delayed by a referendum to permit smoothing over some features of the situation.

President Wilson endeavored to make plain that greatest frankness had prevailed between the two governments even to the abandonment of many diplomatic formalities. The conferences thus far between Secretary Bryan or President Wilson and the Japanese ambassador were described as being those of "one gentleman to another."

Intimations that the Japanese protest itself was couched neither in vigorous nor aggressive language, but was formal and friendly in character, came from the president himself during his talk today, and it was pointed out that the phrase, "a very earnest protest," employed by Secretary Bryan in his message to Governor Johnson, was the description of the note which the American government had entertained rather than the emphatic one the Japanese ambassador. The president was disposed to talk freely of the subject, and appeared confident that a satisfactory adjustment would be accomplished.

The fact that Secretary Bryan has addressed an appeal to Governor Johnson, of California, urging veto the anti-alien land law, inasmuch as the governor had, unofficially at least, repeatedly declared his purpose to sign the bill as it passed the legislature, is taken in official circles here as indicating that the Wilson administration is perfecting its record.

In this action there may be a double purpose. First to satisfy Japan that the federal government has done all it can to prevent the legislation under its constitutional limitations, of which many diplomats contend Japan should have been aware when it entered into treaty relations, and, secondly, to place upon the state authorities of California the responsibility for any serious outcome of the alien land legislation.

As the legislature is near the end of its session, it is expected that Governor Johnson's reply will be forthcoming today or tomorrow. If he yields to Secretary Bryan's appeal, the elements of danger will be removed, and Japanese land owners in California will not be in immediate danger of loss of their property and the state department can at its leisure embark upon negotiations with the Japanese embassy for a new treaty to replace that of 1911 and provide some permanent means of adjustment of the rights of citizens of one country resident in the other.

It has been suggested that possibly by a flat declaration that neither country shall admit the right of citizens of the other country to hold in its territories, the Japanese may be satisfied.

Should Governor Johnson decide to sign the bill notwithstanding federal opposition, legal proceedings are almost certain to follow the first attempt of the California legislature to escheat the property of the Japanese land holders.

Representative Kahn, of California, conferred with Secretary Bryan today and intimated he was seeking information relative to laws in other countries barring the Japanese and other aliens from owning land.

There is no doubt about California's right to enact the alien land law," said Representative Kahn, "but I have

VANGUARD OF HOSTS OF PRESBYTERIANS GETS HERE MONDAY

Great Assemblage Gathering for Biggest Event in Religious History—Eyes of World Are Turned Atlantaward

EDUCATION CONFERENCE TUESDAY OPENS MEETING

Big Joint Program of Four Assemblies in Auditorium on Thursday Night—Busy Days Ahead for Presbyterians

In anticipation of entertaining the greatest single religious gathering that ever has assembled in the world, Atlanta is at work Monday making final arrangements and preparations to take care of the mammoth Presbyterian conference which convenes formally in a united conference on Thursday.

For this event the eyes of the nation are turned toward Atlanta—the host of this history-making meeting.

The vanguard of the great union will begin to arrive Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning in time for the preassembly conferences that will take place during the two days preceding the principal gathering of the united churches.

These conferences, six in all, will consider every phase of the institutional problems of the three great Presbyterian organizations, the northern, the southern and the united Presbyterian churches. The conference on education commences Tuesday afternoon in the First Baptist church and will continue throughout Wednesday with a united conference at the Harris Street Presbyterian church that evening at 8 o'clock. This will mark the ending of the preassembly conferences and make way for the one-day session and joint gathering in the auditorium-armory, which closes Thursday night with an address by James McDonald, one of the most powerful lay members of the church. Mr. McDonald is managing editor of the Toronto Globe.

OTHER ADVANCE CONFERENCES.

Aside from the conference on education, others that will occur from Tuesday afternoon through Wednesday are as follows

Conference on Evangelism—North Avenue Presbyterian church, beginning Wednesday morning, being a joint conference of all commissioners.

College Presidents' Conference—Harris Street church, Wednesday morning, afternoon and evening.

Conference on Education—Baptist tabernacle, Wednesday, held by the delegates to the U. S. A. assembly.

Conference on Theological Seminaries, U. S. A.—Central Congregational church, Wednesday at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

Conference on Laymen's Missionary Movement—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night.

Joint Conference on Foreign Missions—First Presbyterian church, Wednesday night.

Conference on Missions, by U. S. A. Commissioners—Harris Street church, Wednesday morning and afternoon.

TWO MODERATORS RETIRE.

Thursday morning the two moderators, Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, Wash., and Dr. Thomas S. Clyce, of Austin, Tex., will deliver their farewell sermons at the Baptist Tabernacle and North Avenue Presbyterian church respectively. Dr. Matthews retires as moderator of the Northern church, and Dr. Clyce of the Southern. These services will occur simultaneously at 10:30 a. m. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock both branches will meet again for the election of the succeeding moderators or the re-election of the retiring officers.

The several conferences of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday morning and afternoon will bring to a conclusio nall of the same meetings on the subjects mentioned in the program of the preassembly conferences.

On Thursday night at the auditorium-armory the first joint conference of the three branches of the church will take place. Present will be commissioners from the Northern, the Southern and the United Presbyterian churches, besides a special commission of twenty-five from the Associated Reform Presbyterian church.

FIRST JOINT MEETING.

This will be the first joint meeting of this nature ever held in the history of the Presbyterian church, and hundreds of commissioners and delegates will be present for the gathering.

Dr. H. H. Bell, of the United Presbyterian church, and Dr. J. H. Pressley, of the Associated Reform Presbyterian church, both moderators, will make addresses. J. K. Orr, of Atlanta, who is one of the commissioners to the United States assembly from the Atlanta presbytery, will be another speaker.

The keynote of the speeches on this occasion will be for a more perfect union. The speeches will touch also upon the many important discussions of the division assemble of the two preceding days.

RUMOR THAT FRANK MARRIED IN BROOKLYN NOT TRUE, SAYS EAGLE

At Request of The Journal, One of Numerous Reports About Man Held in Phagan Case Is Investigated

TWO 'NO BILLS' NECESSARY TO FREE PRISONERS

Solicitor's "Famous" Detective Has Left City—Character Witnesses Not Likely to Be Used

At the request of The Atlanta Journal, the Brooklyn Eagle, one of the most conservative and reliable newspapers in the whole country, has investigated the most serious of numerous rumors which are being persistently circulated about the character of Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil company, who is held in connection with the death of Mary Phagan. That report was to the effect that Mr. Frank, contrary to his sworn testimony before the coroner's inquest that he had never married but once, namely in Atlanta, about two years ago, married while a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. This rumor has been persistently circulated in various forms.

The Brooklyn Eagle's investigation of this rumor is to the effect that Mr. Frank was never married in Brooklyn. His mother, now residing in Brooklyn, says the Eagle, declares Mr. Frank married in Atlanta and Atlanta only, and there is no record in Brooklyn to the contrary. This report furnish a reliable newspaper is given to the public in accordance with The Journal's policy to print all of the facts and nothing but the facts in connection with this case.

Attorneys declared Monday that even if witnesses who could attack Mr. Frank's character could be found that they would not be allowed to testify in court should Mr. Frank ever face a jury. The state is never allowed to put the character of a defendant in issue, and no past misconduct, however grievous or even if it is a matter of court record, is admitted in evidence unless the defense first makes a point of the character of the man on trial. This is seldom done in criminal cases.

GRAND JURY MEETS FRIDAY.

Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey would make no statement Monday as to the probable time that the Phagan investigation will reach the grand jury. The grand jury will hold another routine meeting on Friday and its members have been directed to hold themselves in readiness for a call meeting at any time. Solicitor Dorsey will not even state whether the case will be taken to the jury by him before or after the regular Friday meeting.

Mr. Dorsey Monday set at rest the rumor that a bill, charging Newt Lee with the murder, would not be presented to the grand jury for its consideration when that body takes up the investigation of the Phagan case.

In all cases, he says, where people are committed to the grand jury by a coroner's jury or magistrate's court a bill charging them with the offense of which they are suspected is put before the jury, even if at the time the solicitor general expects a "no bill" to be returned.

TWO "NO BILLS" NECESSARY.

Interesting in connection with the grand jury's connection with the Phagan case is the fact that should the body return a "no bill" against either Mr. Frank or the negro Lee or against both of them, they would not be released from custody.

To automatically secure the release of a person held on a coroner's warrant or a magistrate's warrant, two separate grand juries must return no bills. The case is then "dead."

The present grand jury will be in session until July 1, and the two men could be held until after that date and after

SENATE TAKES UP TARIFF AGAIN DURING TUESDAY

House Will Mark Time Pending Tariff Fight in the Senate

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The tariff revision fight, which began in the house, will be renewed in the senate tomorrow when the Underwood bill comes up for reference to the finance committee. The senate was not in session today.

The house met today to dispose of what some party leaders referred to as "chicken feed," with the announced purpose of adjourning almost immediately for three days, a beginning of regular adjournments on similar periods until the first week of June.

The idea is to mark time pending the tariff fight on the senate side of the capitol and preparation of currency legislation.

Meantime the Democratic majority of the ways and means committee, as the committee on committees, will meet almost daily to frame the personnel of the regular committees of the house.

President Wilson does not expect the tariff bill will be amended in any important particular. He has not suggested that any schedule be re-opened; has not been informed that the senate contemplates changing the work of the house and is confident that the measure will pass the senate. So certain is he that such an end is in sight that probably he will make known informally his views on currency this week.

The president expressed these views today but did not express himself as to whether there should be public hearings in the finance committee.

The house was in session six minutes. Even minor legislation failed to materialize, and the series of three days adjournments was begun. The house will next next Thursday and thereafter on Mondays and Thursdays until the first week of June. Many members have gone home with an understanding that no legislation involving any disputed points shall be brought up.

REPUBLICANS OPPOSE PENROSE.

In the senate some Republican opposition has developed to the Penrose amendment to force public hearings by the finance committee. The development indicates that the Democratic plan of no hearings will be carried out, although reference of the bill may be delayed while the Republican leaders debate the Penrose amendment for several days beginning tomorrow.

Sub-committees of the finance committee and Chairman Simmons continued consideration today of protests and briefs to the Underwood schedule filed by varied interests.

EUROPE CAN SEND WOOD PULP FREE

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The customs court today decided that European nations are entitled to the free entry of wood pulp and paper under the most favored nation's caluse of their commercial treaties with the United States because the free entry is granted to Canada under the only operative clause of the Canadian reciprocity agreement.

$6,000 WILL BE RAISED FOR CHARITY BY TAG SALES

All Records Will Be Broken, According to Reports Made to Headquarters at 1 o'Clock Monday Afternoon

It was reported at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon that the receipts up to that hour from the sale of tags indicated that all records would be broken, and that the fund for the Sheltering Arms would finally total $6,000 or more.

At Tag Day headquarters in the office of the Southern Railway company in the Peters building, it was stated that the reports received in the forenoon were more encouraging than on any other tag day at the same hour. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Frank Logan, Mrs. Charles Hopkins and Mrs. W. S. Elkin.

The records in the past were $4,709 in 1911 and $5,075 in 1912.

Monday was "Tag day" again in Atlanta, and the city was surrendering, man by man, before it began its day's work. The conquerors were the pretty young society misses, whom wise heads had mustered for the determined onslaught of the day upon Atlanta's pocketbooks to carry away the coins for Sheltering Arms' support.

By 7 o'clock in the morning tags already had begun to appear upon the downtown streets, attached by strings to the coat lapels or the vest buttons of "mere men." By 10 o'clock they were fluttering everywhere, and by dark Monday it was expected that untagged persons with coins would be rare.

After carrying the throngs upon the streets, the Tag day misses invaded the office buildings and penetrated in them to the innermost offices of the grouchiest bosses. The liberty was theirs to take, for it had become a tradition of Tag day, and the charitable purpose of their quest made them welcome everywhere. They were taking full advantage of the fact that the world has money for good works if somebody will come and get it. They went and got it in Atlanta Monday, and the day's results were expected to be bigger than they ever had been on any of the anniversaries of Tag day.

Two hundred girls, selected by discriminating chaperons among the city's best, were engaged in the work. They were divided into committees, and then were subdivided into detachments, and the city, too, was districted so that each committee had its own assigned territory.

STATE WINS POINT OVER ROADS BEFORE U. S. COURT

Attorney General Felder Procures Order From Supreme Court Relative to Taxes

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Attorney General T. S. Felder, of Georgia, today procured from the supreme court an order for the fifth United States circuit court of appeals to send up for review its decision that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company and the Atlantic Coast Line railroad were not to be taxed upon property leased for ninety-nine years from the Georgia railroad. The granting of the order was a point for the state.

The case was brought several months ago and was precipitated when Comptroller General William A. Wright issued tax executions against the Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line railroads as lessees of the Georgia railroad. The defendant roads sought and obtained an injunction from Judge W. C. Newman, of the United States district court for the northern district of Georgia. The state carried the case to the circuit court of appeals, which sustained Judge Newman.

Attorney General Felder stated Monday that he was much gratified that the supreme court had granted an order which will take the case up for review by that tribunal. It is not frequent that the higher court grants such orders and, therefore, its action is considered a point in favor of the state, but it is, of course, impossible to forecast the final outcome.

The state contends that the lessees of the Georgia road should not enjoy certain tax exemptions granted to the Georgia in the charter issued it by the state many years ago.

SENATOR HOKE SMITH DELUGED WITH LETTERS

Night and Day Sessions of Senate Finance Committee Keeps Georgian Very Busy

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The Democrats of the senate finance committee have decided to hold day and night sessions on the tariff bill and Senator Hoke Smith is in a quandary as a result.

The senator receives on an average of 125 letters a day. He has figured it out that to read all of these letters understandingly and to dictate and sign the answers they require takes at least ten hours of his time. He bases his estimate upon an allowance of five minutes to each letter.

With day and night sessions of the finance committee, the senator is unable to see just how and when he will attend to his correspondence. When the committee was confining its work to day sessions only, Senator Smith managed to keep up with his letters, working until midnight each day and getting an early start in the morning.

The senator feels that he is fortunate in having Josia Carter for his secretary. Mr. Carter is a fine "assistant senator" and in the present contingency will have his hands full helping Senator Smith with his correspondence.

RURAL CREDITS BOARD WELCOMED BY EUROPE

American Commission Studying European Methods Begins Work First in Rome

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, May 12.—The American commission for the study of European systems of agricultural co-operation and farmers' credits began its work this morning, when the members heard the reports of German, Hungarian, Austrian, French and Belgian delegates. All expressed the satisfaction of their respective governments with the decision of the United States to send a commission to Europe, adding that they were instructed by their governments to inform the American commissioners that all possible assistance would be given to them toward the accomplishment of their task.

During the session the members of the American commission presented a silver loving cup to David Lubin, of Sacramento, Cal. Lubin first presented the scheme for the foundation of the international institute of agriculture to the king of Italy.

Mr. Lubin offered his thanks, but declined to accept the gift, saying that all the merit for the success of the institute was due to the late president, Marquis Rafaele Cappelli, and, therefore, the cup should go to him.

Marquis Cappelli declared that he would take the cup, not for himself, but for the institute.

DALTON KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HEAR DR. MARK MATTHEWS

Grand Prelate of Grand Commandery to Attend Atlanta Meeting of Presbyterians

DALTON, Ga., May 12.—Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, Wash., moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly of the United States, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon delivered the annual address at the memorial services held by St. John's commandery, No. 19, Knights Templar, as a tribute to departed Sir Knights. Dr. Matthews is grand prelate of the grand commandery, Knights Templar, of Washington. His tribute to the local commandery's dead was a beautiful one.

Dr. Matthews arrived here from Chattanooga at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The Templar services had already been held at the Masonic temple, and so he was met at the train by a committee from the commandery and from there taken by automobile to West Hill cemetery, where the graves of departed Templars were decorated following his masterful address.

He was met at the train by a number of his warm local friends and admirers and accorded a hearty welcome on his return to Dalton.

Sunday evening he filled the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church, of which he was for several years pastor. The church was crowded with people, many being forced to leave through an inability to find room.

At midnight Sunday Dr. Matthews left for Chattanooga, where he will spend Monday, leaving Chattanooga Tuesday morning for Calhoun, where he did his first work in the ministry. A big public reception has been planned by the people of Calhoun, and in addition to Dr. Matthews, many Calhoun orators will address the big meeting which has been planned.

"Uncle Jake" Hopkins Won't Serve Under "Bull Moosers"

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., May 12.—Positively refusing to serve as constable under two "Bull Moosers," who are justices of the peace, "Uncle Jake" Hopkins, of the Rocky Face district, a Democrat of the first water, has delivered his ultimatum to the people of his district.

They must either call an election to name his successor, or, if they want him to serve, they must use the "recall" on the justices of the peace of the district.

"Uncle Jake" is a Confederate veteran, and his opinion is that as the whole county is now Democratic, the justices of the peace at Rocky Face, whom he styles "Bull Moosers," ought to be removed from office and Democrats elected in their stead.

THE 4 SAVED SAVED CASE

Dr. B. N. Alsworth, physician, Purvis, Miss., gives interesting details of the cyclone that devastated that section. We quote: "I suppose you saw in the papers that we had a cyclone. It swept our little town about off the earth. Thank Providence my family and self came out alive, but my drug store was swept to the winds We are picking up slowly. I found four bottles Johnson's Renal Compound unbroken and gave them to a lady whom the other physicians had given up (Bright's Disease). She came to me as soon as she heard that I had returned to practice. I put her on the Renal Compound and she is now nearly well. But I need more. Send me two dozen. In haste.

"R. N. ALSWORTH, M. D."

The Doctor has since made favorable reports in several other cases of Bright's Disease in which he prescribed the Renal Compound.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Frank Edmond & Bro.'s, 11 N. Broad St., and 106 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

PROVISIONS OF INCOME TAX ARE MADE CLEAR BY CONGRESSMAN HULL

Amendments to Tariff Bill Serve to Interpret Ambiguous Clauses of New Income Tax Feature — Stumbling Blocks Removed

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—In addition to the achievement of the house in passing the Underwood tariff bill there was another accomplishment done the last few hours spent on the measure. Through the cross examination to which Representative Hull was subjected when he tacked on twenty-eight committee amendments, many provisions of the tax, hitherto stumbling blocks to lay interpreters, have been explained.

In the amendments themselves was contained, of course, the best indication of what purpose had actuated the writing of many of the clauses that had proved puzzling. But the replies of Mr. Hull to the many queries put to him from both sides of the house form a commentary sure to prove valuable to the layman lucky enough to have more than $4,000 yearly income, but unlucky in that the parliamentary verbiage of the bill denies him understanding of just what Uncle Sam wants.

In the main, the amendments were directed to clarifying the bill. But three changes of relative importance were effected. They were an additional clause excluding from taxable income "payments paid or credited to the insured on insurance, endowment, or annuity contracts, upon the return thereof to the insured at the maturity of the term mentioned in the contract;" the exemption of cemetery associations from the tax, and the change relative to the application of the tax in Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Of the questions raised all over the country while the bill was still pending, one of the most widely discussed had to do with the interrelationship of the normal tax of 1 per cent and the graduated additional or sur-tax. Under the original form of the bill it had been questioned whether if not the wealthier class subject to the additional tax would find exemption from the sur-tax under the clause excluding from net taxable income all corporate dividends.

This question arose under Section B of the tax law, wherein the method of computing net taxable income was laid down. The 1 per cent tax, it will be remembered, applies to incomes from $4,000 to $20,000; and above that, the range increases as follows: 1 per cent additional on incomes exceeding $20,000 and up to $50,000; 2 per cent additional on that part of the income between $50,000 and $100,000, and 3 per cent additional on all above that amount.

The computing section, before it was amended, said simply that on all "net income" the dividend exemption would apply, hence the assumption that net income include those above $20,000. The real purpose of applying this exemption only to incomes under $20,000, which Mr. Hull had said was implied, is now beyond doubt through the amendment limiting the computing clause to "net income for the purpose of the normal (or 1 per cent) tax."

Between the thunders of protest raised by insurance companies on what they claim are unjust applications of the tax to their funds and the equally loud denials of the many-tongued majority, Mr. Hull's authoritative and concise explanations of the bill's purposes concerning insurance funds, and the application of the committee amendments to such funds, are of interest.

As the bill was enacted in the house last night, the exemptions, as applying to life insurance funds, were as follows: Proceeds paid upon death, and "payments paid to the insured on life insurance . . . upon the return thereof to the insured at the maturity of the term mentioned in the contract."

INSURANCE FUNDS.

The general purpose, with regard to insurance funds, to quote Mr. Hull, was as follows: "The sole purpose and effect of this bill from the beginning has been only to re-enact the present corporation tax law in so far as the insurance provision is concerned, and that means a tax of 1 per cent upon the net profits of insurance corporations. The same doctrine was reiterated by Mr. Underwood a little later in the discussion, as follows:

"The way we look at this proposition in this: under the present law the incomes of these corporations, whether they be insurance companies or not, are taxed 1 per cent. Under the clause of this bill the net incomes of these corporations, whether they are insurance companies or not, will be taxed 1 per cent."

As to the exact meaning of the amendment concerning returned payments, Mr. Hull had this to say: "The exemption amendment which was adopted includes the proceeds of life insurance policies paid on the death of the person insured, and also includes the return of any and all sums which a person invests in insurance and receives back at one time or at periodical times during his life, as distinguished from any actual gains or profits which he derives out of the investment." And again: "This provision merely declares what the law has always been—that no part o fthe principal returned to the investor during life in connection with these transactions is considered taxable income."

The questions asked, with relation to specific instances, were illuminating. For instance, Representative Barkley queried: "Suppose that a policy is taken out and the premiums paid for a period, and when the policy has a certain cash surrender value in tontines or endowments. The man may surrender his policy and take endowment. Now, is that cash surrender value taxable as income?"

"No part of the principal invested in insurance," replied Mr. Hull, "which comes back to the insured during life is considered taxable income any more than the return of money which he might have loaned to another or a deposit that he might have made in the bank."

Another question that agitated the minds of many members concerned Mr. Hull's action in having stricken from the bill the words "or return of premium payments." Many asked concerning te effect of this move on the proposed taxation for such funds, and the effect of the amendment was made clear by Mr. Hull as follows:

"The language of the bill as it is now, placed in the alternative dividends or return of premium payments. It is the contention of different insurance officials that this in legal effect as well as in substance, from their standpoint, is the same as the present law.

"In other words, until the time of the enactment of the corporation tax, few, if any, people had ever heard the phrase "return of premium payments" used in this connection. It was called a dividend out of the surplus or profits.

LEGAL EFFECT OF LAW.

"Now, in order that not only the legal effect of the present law (the corporation tax), but the language as well, may continue in the proposed law, the pending amendment is offered. We reduced it to a mixed question of law and fact as to what these dividends contain, and not solely a question of law, if the contention of the gentlemen representing the insurance companies is correct, and that being so, if they return actual premiums overcharges at any time by this method to the policy holders the fact would be disclosed and no tax would accrue, if, on the contrary, these dividends embrace actual profits that have accumulated there in connection with deferred dividends and in other respects to which I might call attention, then the tax would fasten on it and they would pay 1 per cent, as all other corporations."

A specific case, with this principle involved, was later put up to Mr. Underwood, in the course of a debate in which he became involved.

"If a man has an insurance policy," asked Representative Goulden, "and runs along and keeps up payments for a number of years for, say, ten or fifteen, then decides not to carry it any longer and to take the cash, in a case of that kind I would like to know if this amendment provides for a deduction on that?"

"The amendment which has been offered exempts the return of the principal or the amount that has been paid in, because the charge that is made for carrying the risk is more than the return premium in this case. When returned, there may be a portion of it that is principal and a portion of it that is profit, and probably there is. Under that contract they will return the principal and they will return some of the profit. Now the principal return under the amendment that we adopted will not be taxed, but if there is profit returned it will be taxed."

Quick Thinking Wins

Is your thinker fed right for prompt action?

At a dinner not long ago Thomas W. Lawson was talking on the subject of success.

"Success in finance," said Mr. Lawson, "is due in a great measure to the fact that doubting, hesitating, Hamlet type of man had best keep out of finance. He is quite sure to be swamped."

DAILY CAMPAIGN STORY

"Don't Hold Down to One or Two Answers On Each Picture."

Now that The Journal is offering you an Answer Book with the privilge of ten answers to each picture and the first thirty-five pictures free, there is no excuse for any contestant to hold down to one or two answers to each picture. If you had three fast horses and had the privilege of entering all of them in a race in which the purse was $1,000, you would not select the most likely horse to win and hold the other two out. That would not be wise, because your judgment might be poor and that horse would lose out on you, while, on the other hand, if you had entered the three of them, one of them might bring home the money. It is the same way in this Campaign; you have the right to ten answers on each picture, and if you hold down to one or two answers you are lessening your chances to win. Whatever you do, exercise all your rights to extra answers, and increase your chances of getting in that pile of shining gold.

The Answer Book will be ready on Thursday. Be sure and get one, as it will be the great aid to your share of the $7,000 The Journal will award to prize winners in this delightful game.

MACON'S NEW R. R. DEPOT MAY BE UNION STATION

State Commission Gives Central and Southern Until May 27

It appears that Macon is to have a union passenger station after all. Prominent officials of both the Central of Georgia railroad and the Southern railway informed the state railroad commission Monday morning that negotiations were in progress looking to the erection of a joint station at Macon, and asked fifteen days' time to determine whether they would be able to agree.

This request was made because the order of the commission, phrased some weeks ago, requiring each of the roads to submit either plans for individual stations or plans for a union station, called for compliance by Tuesday, May 13.

At the conference Monday morning the commission was advised by the officials of both roads that the Central had at the request of the Southern, submitted to the latter plans, estimates of cost, and terms for the joint erection and joint operation of a union passenger station at Macon.

Upon this showing the commission gave the roads until May 27 to decide whether they will build a joint station or individual stations.

The Central was represented at the conference by C. H. Markham, of Chicago, president of the Illinois Central and the Central of Georgia; W. A. Winborn, vice president; A. R. Lawton, vice president; T. S. Moise, general manager, and C. K. Lawrence, chief engineer.

H. H. Spencer, of Washington, vice president of the Southern, represented that road. Both he and Vice President Winburn announced that the negotiations between the two roads had progressed sufficiently to demonstrate that the erection and operation of a joint station is feasible. Mr. Spencer stated that the fifteen days' extension of time was desired by his road in order that the plans and estimates, as well as the terms, submitted by the Central, might be taken to Washington and examined by the Southern's engineers and other officials.

No announcement as to the proposed site for the station has been given out, it being explained that the sites at present under consideration are only tentative.

Should the roads agree on plans and terms for a joint station they will report to the commission on May 27. The commission will examine the plans and will ascertain if the station proposed will be satisfactory to Macon. In that event an order authorizing the arrangements for joint passenger terminals will be issued and the roads will begin construction work immediately.

It is estimated that owing to the necessity for the readjustment of freight terminals and the interference with the operation of the roads, the station will be under construction for perhaps two years.

ATLANTA IN MOUTH OF EVERY SHRINER AT THE CONVENTION

is the declaration of the Atlanta delegation.

It is understood that Atlanta will increase her offer to $100,000 if that is needed to land the convention.

Atlanta's instantaneous and hearty response with the subscription of $75,000 is the trump card of Yaarab temple. The fact that this large amount was pledged by only one day's work has caused a profound impression among all the representatives. The hotel facilities of Atlanta will also play an important part in the selection of the next meeting place.

ATLANTIANS ATTRACT ATTENTION.

"We have the hotels and the money," said Potentate Adair, "and we are going to win."

The Atlanta delegation and the representatives from Savannah are attracting a great deal of attention and receiving many visitors at their headquarters.

Georgia has a member of the imperial divan in Ernest Allen Cutts, of Savannah, who is imperial outer guard, and will in all probability be named imperial inner guard during this session of the council.

The parade of the Yaarab patrol and drum corps upon its arrival in Dallas early Sunday morning was viewed by many and compliments were given the Georgia boys.

Sunday was spent entirely without any formality, the different delegations holding reunions at their respective headquarters. There is a large number of Atlanta and Georgia boys in Dallas and many former friendships were renewed.

The streets have been filled all day with bands and different delegations and the arrivals will continue until Monday night.

The imperial council will begin its session Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the Scottish Rite cathedral, which cost $350,000 and was dedicated April 3.

Monday will be devote to reception and entertainments that threaten to tax the capability of the scores of invited guests.

It is expected that there will be 15,000 visitors in Dallas by Tuesday morning, 5,000 of that number being members of the patriots of different temples.

The Atlanta delegation has its headquarters at the Hotel Adolphus. The patrol and drum corps will be quartered in parked Pullmans during the stay.

100,000 ENTERTAINERS.

Marching music awakened a large portion of the population of Dallas when scores more of patrols and bands of music began to arrive for the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Shriners. Twenty-six special trains arrived today.

A feature of the city's entertainment in the making of every one of its 100,000 population an official member of the entertainment committee, and the slogan of the convention, "Mornin' Silas," appeared in bunting, on automobiles and in all sorts of places throughout Dallas. This slogan drew a $25 prize when it was selected from several hundred other welcoming greetings submitted in competition about a year ago.

Welcoming was the main business of the opening session today. Tuesday will be parade day. Wednesday business will be finished and Thursday a thousand-mile tour of the state will begin.

Montgomery, Ala., sent a delegation of fifty Shriners to remind the imperial officers that Montgomery's request for the establishment of a temple there is the only unfinished business left over from last year's meeting in Los Angeles.

A telegram today from Charles F. O'Neal, mayor of San Diego, Cal., announced that the Shriners of Los Angeles and San Diego had him a prisoner aboard their special trains, and warned Dallasites that as soon as they hear the song, "I Love You, California," they may know the coast "pirates" have arrived, and had better "chain down everything movable unless it is red hot."

MEMPHIS OPENS MIDWAY.

A "Sunday supplement" band appeared on the streets today, each man wearing a multi-colored silk uniform, a metal protected helmet and each playing an accordion. They were unlabeled, but some of them were recognized as Dallas Shriners.

In the contest for the next Shrine convention Memphis is putting on a big "outside show" in an effort to get the votes while Atlanta is relying on its "inside show," and the Atlanta men believe they have enough pledges to win.

Two Memphis camels arrived today. Tonight the Memphis crowd will open a real side show and meanwhile the Memphis colors and souvenirs were spread everywhere among the Shriners.

"ATLANTA" SHRINERS BYWORD.

The Yaarab patrol and drum corps were out early Monday morning before the rest were awake going through the "setting up" exercise of the United States army manual. Large crowds in the vicinity of the cars, where the delegation is parked, were attracted by the music and fell out of bed to see the interesting maneuvers. The Atlanta contingent was cheered heartily, wherever they appeared, and Shriners from other temples have ceased to say "hello noble" when they meet a Yaarab Shriner, but salute them with "Oh, you Atlanta, 1914."

CONSTITUTIONALITY OF ELECTION LAW CONTESTED

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 12.—The expected attack upon the new amendment to the general election law as unconstitutional came today when a chancery bill was filed by some ninety citizens headed by former United States Senator W. H. Webb, seeking to enjoin from recognition as members of the state election board those added to the board during the recent filibuster in the house.

The main allegation against t heamendment is lack of a quorum in the house when the effort was made to pass the amendment over the governor's veto. It is also alleged a quorum was lacking in both house and senate when the three new commissioners were selected by joint convention.

MAYOR DEMANDS RIGID TEST OF FIRE ENGINE

In Addition to Company's Test, National Board of Underwriters Will Test It

In addition to the test by the company's demonstrator, which will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in front of fire headquarters on West Alabama street, Mayor Woodward will insist that the new LaFrance automobile fire engine be tested by a representative of the national board of underwriters, and the city comptroler's office, at the mayor's direction, has telegranhed the board to send a man to Atlanta for that purpose.

Mayor Woodward was not in favor of buying the LaFrance engine, but the board of firemasters voted him down. Now he is going to see that the engine undergoes a rigid test before he will sign the contract.

The company's demonstrator has been working out the engine several days and has it in good shape for the test Monday afternoon. The test will be witnessed by the mayor, members of council, Fire Chief Cummings and others.

The LaFrance engine makes the third piece of automobile apparatus to be bought by the city of Atlanta. The first was Chief Cummings' "red devil" machine in which he rides to fires, and the second was the engine for the tenth ward station.

Automobile apparatus will be purchased by the city for all the new fire stations erected in the future, and as the present horse-drawn apparatus wears out, it will be replaced by automobile apparatus.

FIRST CHRISTIANS WIN SUNDAY SCHOOL CONTEST

Second Baptists Defeated by Close Margin—Atlanta Superintendents to Study Methods

By a majority of 8,284 points in a total of 112,000 scored by the two schools since the contest between them began on February 16, the First Christian Sunday school of Atlanta came out victor over the Second Baptist Sunday school Sunday on the thirteenth and final count of the big contest.

The last day's score was found to be as follows:

SECOND BAPTIST.

Grand totals: Second Baptist, 52,074; First Christian, 60,358.

First Christian's majority, 8,284 points.

"You had to break a world's record to beat us," was the smiling comment of John S. Spalding, superintendent of the Second Baptist school, when he was introduced for a speech in the First Christian church after the final announcements were made.

No one was hurt by the contest, and everybody was benefited, according to C. V. LeCraw, superintendent of the First Christian school. The important work now lies before both schools, said he on Monday, of retaining what they have won. They will exchange reports each Sunday morning to see which is succeeding the better at that.

Now the picnic is in order. Originally the plan was that the loser should entertain the winner at a big open air feast. But it has become now a good-fellowship picnic, and there will be no distinction between winner and loser, for everybody will contribute fat baskets to the general spread. The details are to be arranged by a committee representing both schools.

At the meeting of the Atlanta Congress of Sunday School Superintendents, Tuesday night in the Central Presbyterian, the whole evening will be devoted by all the denominational representatives there assembled to a study of this contest just ended. Superintendents LeCraw and Spalding have been requested to address the congress and describe the contest in detail.

The First Christian school leaders are planning already an active campaign to retain their school's big membership. On next Friday they will hold the first event in an attractive program that stretches indefinitely into the future. This will be a "chicken feast"—a "May feast day" celebration, for which great stores of good things have been ordered by the ladies who are to prepare and have charge of it.

$5.75 Will Take You To Africa, According To Darktown Standards

Just as all good Americans are supposed to go to Paris when they die, so al bad negroes want to go to Chattanooga when they are arraigned before "Judge Briles" of a Monday morning.

A typical case at the last session of court was that of Allie Davis, colored, arested Saturday night on Decatur street for being on a "gin drunk" and disturbing the peace. When Allie was brought into court Monday morning she begged the judge to "let 'er off."

"Honest, jedge," she declared, "an sho' will be' good. Why, ef you all will jest lemme go this time I'll git right out er dis here town."

"Where will you go to ?" his honor inquired.

"To Chattanooga, jedge," declared Allie.

"Well," said Judge Broyles, "if you'll promise to go to Africa I'll let you off."

Allie replied that she didn't have the car fare to the Cape of Good Hope, or words to that effect, whereupon the judge casually fined her $5.75.

"Lawsey, jedge," exclaimed the dusky defendant, "wid $5.75 Ah could go to Africa." But his honor couldn't see it that way.

PESTERED FARMERS TO TRAP SASSY QUAIL UNDER PERMIT FOR STOCKING COAST FIELDS

The quail in Wilcox county are growing "so sassy" that the farmers of that section have appealed to State Game Commissioner Jesse E. Mercer for relief. They write that the birds have multiplied rapidly and are very numerous, and that they are pulling up the young corn to such an extent that in some instances it has been necessary to plant the fields two or three times over.

It seems, says one of the commisioner's correspondents, that the quail are aware of the protection offered them by the game law and as a result have become quite bold and fearless. Three well-known farmers of Seville—Messrs. G. W. Moye, D. D. Pearce and M. H. Ellis—have inquired if they would not be permitted to either shoot or trap the birds. They declared that something had to be done or their corn crops would be destroyed.

Commissioner Mercer granted these farmers permission to trap the birds, specifying the kind of traps they must use and directing that the birds must be fed and watred until he could take possession of them.

He intends to send all of those captured to counties along the coast which have few, if any quail, he answered.

In concluding his letter Commissioner Mercer expressed the hope that the quail will not become so idious as to attack the children of Wilcox county.

The Empire Life's Great 12-Year Record

The Empire Life Building—Home Office of the Compan;

It is, no doubt, a source of gratification to the people of the South, and especially those of Georgia, to note the steady and substantial growth of The Empire, their home Life Insurance Company.

The Empire Life's recent statement, as filed with the Insurance Department of the State of Georgia, shows a wonderful transformation of figures since its first entrance into the insurance field in 1901. Every year has shown an increase over the previous year, which shows conclusively the growth of the company to be steady, and not spasmodic.

The record shows the following figures at the end of the first year, 1901, and at the end of the last year, 1912:

|---|---|
| End of 1901—Gross Assets . . | $46,661.51 |

CHIEF LANFORD AND HIS DRIVER STOP RUNAWAY

Horses of Drunken Negro Halted in Exciting Dash Down Decatur Street

A chase after a runaway carriage, with a drunken driver atop, was ended Sunday afternoon by Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford and his negro buggy driver, John Murphy, when the carriage was halted on Hunter street by Murphy and the negro driver caught by the chief after a foot race of two blocks.

The chief was being driven home by Murphy about 7 o'clock Sunday evening. As their buggy advanced toward town up Decatur street, a double-seated carriage approached them from the opposite direction. The team of horses was pounding down the street at the rate of twenty-five or thirty miles an hour, and the carriage was swaying dangerously from side to side.

On the driver's seat a negro in livery was slouched forward in the drunken doze. The chief's buggy narrowly escaped being run down as the carriage reeked past.

The chief and Murphy whipped around and pursued the runaway. At Bell street the team of horses plunged to the right and tore across the viaduct, turning into Hunter street at its other end. A block or so down Hunter the chief's buggy overtook the carriage, and Murphy leaped to the ground, seized the reins of the runaway and managed to bring the crazed horses to a halt.

The drunken driver had jumped from his seat in the meantime and set off down Hunter street. Chief Lanford took up the chase. For two blocks he pursued the driver, when the latter stumbled into a tree and fell unconscious.

At the police station the negro gave his name as Charles Smith, with an address in the rear of 127 Capitol avenue. His case came up for trial Monday morning.

COUNTY POLICEMEN SAVE NEGRO FROM NEGRO MOB

Doc Burnett, Who Stabbed Negro Boy, Barely Escaped Lynching Sunday

The timely arrival of three county policemen probably prevented the lynching of a negro man by a mob of negroes on Marietta road at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Doc Burnett, the negro, killed a negro boy named Charlie Simon, by stabbing him with a knife, and a few minutes later was surrounded by a crowd of infuriated negroes who threatened to string him up.

Lieutenant J. M. Carroll and Officers J. W. Williams and L. W. Allen, of the county police force, happened to be passing nearby and saw the crowd.

They elbowed their way through, took Burnett in custody, and started with him to jail.

Thereupon the negroes crowded close around and begged them to give up their prisoner, saying they would finish him in short order and save the state the trouble.

Finally they grew so determined that the policemen had to draw revolvers and stand them off until a street car passed.

On arriving at the jail, to their astonishment, they were met by a smaller mob, who had hurried to town ahead of them, and again they had to draw their revolvers to protect Burnett.

GRANGER, N. J., OFFICIALS INSPECT SEWAGE SYSTEM

Eleven Council Members Here to Inspect New Purification Plants

Atlanta's new sewage purigation system will be inspected Monday by eleven members of the city council of Orange, N. J., who arrived here Sunday afternoon for that purpose.

Captain R. M. Clayton, the city's chief of construction, met them at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the city hall and took them for an automobile trip around the city.

They will visit first the Proctor creek plant, which is completed and in operation; then the Peachtree creek plant, which is nearing completion, and finally the Entrenchment creek plant, which is something over half finished.

In the party are the following: P. Allen Smith, Henry T. Stetson, Charles F. Coyne, Charles A. Lemaster, John Kesseter, Patrick A. Quinn, Owen C. Dolan, Owen P. Casey, Christopher Freeman, Dan F. Gallagher and Stewart Lindsley.

The New Jersey cities of Orange, East Orange and Montclair are close together and have no sewage purification. Their sewage is emptied into the Passaic river, a small stream seven miles long. The growth of the cities makes it necessary to purify the sewage, and all three propose to join together in the construction of a suitable system.

TWO AUTOS LOST WHEN PRIVATE GARAGE BURNS

Two automobiles were destroyed when the garage in the rear of the Mendenhall apartments, 521 Peachtree street, was burned to the ground Sunday night between 9 and 10 o'clock. A third car, belonging to G. C. Rogers, was saved by its owner, who suffered burns about the hands and arms. The cars that were lost belonged to Carl Witt and Arthur Reed, and together were worth over $5,000. The garage was a small frame building.

The fire spread with such rapidity that the firemen had a hard time to keep it from spreading, and once or twice the flames attacked the rear of the stable of the Nixon home at the corner of North avenue and Courtland street, only to be extinguished before they made any headway.

There was no explanation as to just how the fire originated, but it is believed to have started from a lighted cigarette, which probably was thrown on the floor near some waste.

ATLANTA—"Are You a Mason?"
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

Paul Dickey, famous athlete with the University of Michigan, now a headliner in Vaudeville, is the principal feature of the Keith bill that will be this week's attraction at the Forsyth, with matinees daily.

In addition to Mr. Dickey, there are six other acts, each one a distinctive feature in its respective class. Since the return of vaudeville to the Forsyth there has been more quality and a better standard of this class of entertainment than heretofore.

The Dickey sketch was written by the football player himself, and is called "The Come Back." It tells a story of college life at a very important period, and will introduce some thrilling and comical situations.

The Apollo Trio, living bronze statues, will be a big novelty feature on the bill. These native Italians were imported a few months ago, and have created a wonderful sensation in the Broadway houses.

Billy K. Wells, the orator, one of vaudeville's best character comedians, is also on the bill, and Newhoff and Phelps, presenting "At General Delivery," a novelty comedy act, will add to the interest.

Clarence Wilbur and "His Funny Folks" in a school room scene, promises good lively comedy, and Mayo and Allman, singers, will introduce the newest song hits from Broadway. The athletic part of the show will also have a contribution from McAleavy's Marvels, champion jumpers.

The bill as a whole seems to measure to the standard that has been established, and there is already the usual advance sale.

The Atlanta inaugurates its new policy of three matinees each week with an afternoon performance today. The bill by the Miss Billy Long company this week is a fine farce, "Are You a Mason?" It has proved to be one of the greatest stock plays ever produced. Members of the company have rehearsed with a fine decree of enthusiasm, and a fast performance is certain this afternoon and each other performance. Other matinees will be on Wednesdays and Saturdays, as in the past. No performance will be given this Wednesday night, but the company will play all other performances regularly. "Are You a Mason?" is sure to please Atlantians. It is a comedy with laughs, and is entertaining to a high degree from curtain rise to fall. Miss Agnes Tinsley Harrison, the Atlanta girl, has a prominent part in the cast, while the two new members of the company, Mr. William Triplett and Mrs. Triplett, are well cast. There is no doubt but that the best performances of the season will be given by the company in this farce. The Atlanta will, accordingly, be the place to go to forget one's troubles or be cured of the tired feeling.

Bijou audiences have a treat in store for them this week in the appearance of the famous Wilhat Troupe of Novelty Gymnasts, introducing the most remarkable dog actor. This troupe, after having appeared in all of the leading theaters and music halls of two continents, was induced to accept an engagement on the southern circuit. The act consists of four people, two of whom are said to be the cleverest female gymnasts now appearing on the vaudeville stage.

The next number in importance will be that of Klein and Yoste, who have earned the reputation of being the very top-notch entertainers in ragtime numbers and comedy duets, with their clever piano playing. The Misses Bartells and Lucas, styled "the dainty fashion plates," have also a novelty. These, together with Will K. Meyers, the inimitable tramp, and a program of timely and interesting motion pictures, will round out what is expected to be a popular vaudeville offering. The usual number of performances will be given during the week, two matinees on Monday and Saturday at 2:30 and 4, and the balance of week at 3 o'clock. Night shows, 7:30 and 9.

OFFICER WEBB SINKING; GILBERT MAY RECOVER

Policeman Shot in Jaw Is Not Expected to Live, Say Doctors

Two men at the Grady hospital are reported to be in a dangerous condition as the result of injuries sustained Saturday in cutting and shooting scrapes. They are Detective Sam Webb, who was shot through the jaw while raiding a negro crap game on Alexander street, and O. W. Gilbert, manager of Scherer's dairy lunch room, who was stabbed in the side by Arthur Bridwell in the Georgia pool room, 49 Peachtree street.

Webb's condition is said to be serious. He has great difficulty in breathing, his throat having become very much swollen. A tube has been inserted through his windpipe in order that he may get more air. He is not expected to live.

Webb's assailant, Handy Lesser, known as "The Snake," has not yet been caught. He is believed to have been wounded in the fight, and officers hope to apprehend him before Monday night.

O. W. Gilbert, who was worse Sunday as the result of the knife wound in his side, is said to be much better. Physicians stated Monday morning that he has a fair chance to recover.

PLAYERS' CLUB NOW WILL REHEARSE DAILY

Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being in Earnest" to Be the Play

The Players' club of this city begin this week rehearsals for their next production, which will be Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being in Earnest." Rehearsals will be held daily in the Grand opera house, under the direction of Warren A. Rogers, the dramatic director of the club.

The exact date for the forthcoming performances has not yet been determined, but in all probability it will be the last of next week or the first of the week following.

The principal parts will be taken this time by Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Miss Hildreth Burton Smith, Lamar Hill and Marsh (E. Miller) Adair. In their support will be Mrs. William Owens, Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott, R. Frank Taylor and Hamilton Douglas, Jr.

The body was taken to Greenberg & Bond's chapel pending the announcement of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Hutcheson, during the years of his life in Atlanta, was a prominent Odd Fellow and has hundreds of friends to whom the news of his death will bring sorrow.

He is survived by a wife and three children—two sons, Fred H. and Carl Hutcheson, of Atlanta—and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Buck, of Chattanooga, Tennessee.

BURGLARS FILCHED A STRANGE ASSORTMENT

The burglars who broke into Dr. Bookhammer's hair-dressing parlors at 69 Whitehall street last Thursday night, secured a strange and wonderful assortment of loot, judging by the list of stolen goods which the proprietor has turned over to the local police.

In an itemized account of over forty different articles occur such weird specimens as "two curling irons, one gross of hair nets, one dozen orange sticks, one gas curling stove, six nail files, one dozen frizzettes, twelve boxes of rouge, one dozen boxes of face powder, eight boxes of nail beach and one box of eyebrow pencils."

SHOWERS ARE EXPECTED BEFORE TUESDAY MORNING

"A little shower" is what the weather man is expecting within the next twenty-four hours, according to his prediction made Monday morning. The rain, he says, will come Tuesday or possibly Monday night.

It is not expected to last very long, and probably will be not as much as the city should have at this time. The week promises to be a fair one, he says.

It will be warmer Tuesday, goes the forecast. The temperature early Monday morning was 56 degrees, but it is not expected to go below 60 degrees Monday night.

Because J. H. Fulton, a painter, who gives his address as 10 Clifford street, chose to go to bed Sunday night at the corner of Jones avenue and Grace street and decorated the surrounding scenery with various articles of clothing, he was arrested and was tried Monday morning on the charge of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Officers Horn and McWilliams were sent out on Jones street at an early hour Monday morning. They found Fulton reposing in deep slumber on the sidewalk. His coat was draped neatly over a nearby picket fence, his hat was hung jauntily on a tree, his shoes were placed beside him in the gutter. It appeared that Morpheus had then overtaken him, for saving a brilliant lilac sock which was halfway on and halfway off, the rest of his toilet was undisturbed.

When awakened, Fulton appeared to be unaware that he had chosen a rather public spot for his slumbers, and submitted peacefully enough to sleep in a cell at police headquarters during the remainder of the night.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE URGED TO CALL A CONVENTION

Progressive Wing Wants to Cut Southern Representation and Curtail Committee Power

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 12.—First steps toward "reuniting the Republican party," were taken at a conference of Republican United States senators and other party leaders here today. The conference decided to ask the Republican national committee at its meeting May 24 at Washington to issue a call for a national convention this year.

To reorganize the party "along progressive lines," Senator Cummins, of Iowa, Senator Borah, of Idaho, former Governor H. S. Hadley and other leaders agreed that the proposed convention shall change the basis of representation in future conventions and make other radical changes so that the party shall stand "for constructive and progressive activities in the affairs of government."

"Does the suggestion to reunite the party mean that those who joined the Progressive party are to be asked to come back?" Senator Cummins was asked.

"It means just as I have said before, that the convention will be a sort of Lord's Supper and all those who believe ay partake," replied Senator Cummins.

The following statement was given out:

"At an informal conference of Republicans from eleven states held at Chicago, May 12, it was voted that it be submitted to the national Republican committee at the conference of those present that a national convention of the party should be held this year at as early a date as may be practicable to consider the expediency of changing the basis of representation in future conventions so that the delegates shall proportionally represent Republican voters and not general population, to the end that the will of the members of the party may be more accurately determined; also for the purpose of changing the rules relating to delegates and members of the national committee so that the primary election laws of the various states shall be recognized and have full force, and also for the purpose of making such other changes in the methods of conducting national conventions and campaigns as shall conduce to giving the utmost possible effect to the principles and policies of the party.

"It was further the opinion that such a convention might properly and usefully take any other action deemable to reunite the party and to give as such that it stands for constructive and progressive activities in the affairs of government to the end that the common welfare may be advanced.

"It was the unanimous belief of those present that the changes suggested should be made forthwith and that the national committee be urged to take such steps to such an end."

Robert Luce, former lieutenant governor of Massachusetts; Senator Borah, Senator Kenyon, W. P. James, state senator of Michigan, and James A. Troutman, state senator of Kansas, composed the statement expressing the sentiments of the conference.

Much interest centered about the significance of including in the statement the phrase about "reuniting the party." Senator Cummins explained that "it meant just what it said, "but that no lengthy talk had been indulged in about "inviting" members of the Progressive party to return to the Republican ranks.

The statesmen who represent the Progressive wing of the party were strengthened this morning by the arrival of former Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, while Senator Works, of California, telegrahed that he hoped to reach the city in time to attend the afternoon session. Other politicians from other central states swelled the attendance to more than fifty.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, is opposed to calling a Republican national conference. He has asserted that it would be useless to attempt to reorganize from the top down as any meeting held at this time would be controlled by the same men who dominated the convention last June.

He was the center of discussion when he advanced a plan for the direct election of delegates to a national convention, standing practically alone on this issue.

Hostility to the present national committee has been openly expressed by several of the Progressives. Senator Kenyon's statement that "most of us would have no objection to most of the national committee resigning" is backed up by Senator Sherman, of Illinois, who said:

"The feeling is that the national committee should be less inflexible and more amenable to public opinion. One of the aims of the conference is to curtail the powers of the existing national committee.

"Interviews have disclosed that the consensus of opinion favors following the rule adopted by the Progressives and Democratic national conventions, providing that members of the national committee shall assume their duties immediatey upon election instead of waiting until the dissolution of the committee at the close of the national convention.

"By such an arangement the new committeemen would handle the credentials of the 1916 convention."

The attendance of Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, is said to have the disapproval of Senator LaFollette, who is not in sympathy with the gathering. The two have been strong political allies, and it is reported that the determination of Senator Gronna to attend has caused dissention.

After the conference of Progressive Republican leaders here today, former Governor Hadley, of Missouri, stated that a "coalition of the Republican party and the Progressive party is not only desired, but is being sought." Mr. Hadley explained that this end was being sought by the attempted reform of the Republican party so that conscientious Progressives woh left the party last fall could rejoin.

WOMAN'S DANGER PERIOD

is said to be from 45 to 50. What should be a most natural change in a woman's life, is, on account of modern methods of living, fraught with most annoying and painful symptoms. Women when passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it has proved wonderfully successful in carrying women safely through the change of life.—(Advt.)

WANT MOSLEY PLACE FOR WEST SIDE PARK

Council Finance Committee Will Be Asked to Look Over It This Week

Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee of general council, and other members of the committee, will be asked this week to visit and inspect the Mosley place, on West Hunter road, which the First and Seventh ward council members are urging the city to buy for park purposes.

The place embraces thirty-eight acres with a large dwelling house. There are two lakes, or rather dams where lakes can be made simply by clearing the undergrowth and turning in water, and a grove of very fine trees. Driveways, shrubbery and flowers are well laid off. Taken all in all, the place already is in fine shape for a park, and could be made one of the prettiest in the city with the necessary clearing up of undergrowth, pruning, repairs, etc.

The price asked is $45,000, and the city can make suitable terms if there is not money available to pay the full amount now.

The First and Seventh ward council members argue that the west side has no large park, and they consider the Mosley place ideally suited for park purposes and a good investment for the city at the price.

SALARY LAW DECISION IS EXPECTED TUESDAY

General Impression Is That Fulton's Protesting Officials Will Lose

It is anticipated that on Tuesday morning the state supreme court will hand down its decision on the constitutionality of the law enacted by the last legislature which put the officials of Fulton county upon salaries instead of fees.

Although there has been no intimation from the higher court as to what this decision will be, there is a general impression that the constitutionality of the law will be upheld and that the Fulton county officials will continue on salaries.

The attack on the salary law was made by Tax Collector A. P. Stewart, Tax Receiver T. M. Armistead and Ordinary John R. Wilkinson. Judge John T. Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court, held that the law was sound and binding, and the three dissenting officials then appealed to the supreme court.

OSCAR UPCHURCH'S JINX GOT HIM AGAIN SUNDAY

Man Who Was Mashed by Cave-in Now Thrown by Horse

Oscar Upchurch, of 630 DeKalb avenue, was injured Sunday afternoon, when the horse he was riding threw him as it shied at an automobile on East Lake drive just in the rear of Thomas B. Paine's residence at East Lake.

The young man was taken by Mr. Paine in his limousine to the Grady hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a badly lacerated knee cap and bruises about his face and body.

Mr. Upchurch is the same young man who barely escaped with his life when the excavation was made for the present Dakota hotel. A cave-in occurred one morning, in which two negroes were killed. The landslide caught Mr. Upchurch, who was then foreman of a gang of workmen. He was buried to his shoulders, and when he was dug out it was found he had one leg broken and several ribs crushed.

France Leads in Official Records Of the Aeroplane

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The remarkable advance made in the science of aviation since Orville Wright made the first public flights in a heavier than air machine at Fort Myer, Va., in 1908, is the subject of a statement compiled by the war department and just made public. Athough the honor of inventing and utilizing the aeroplane belongs to the United States, it is disclosed that virtually all the advances made in the utilization of the air machines have been accomplished by foreign airmen, principally Frenchmen.

In 1909, the records show, the greatest height attained by a heavier than air machine was 1,450 feet. The mark now stands at more than 20,000 feet, while the height of something over 10,000 feet has been attained by a dirigible balloon. The aeroplanes, however, have demonstrated that they can rise higher and much more rapidly than the balloon type of air craft and for that reason their efficiency in a military sense is regarded as much greater.

In both speed and duration the strides made since 1909, have been remarkable. In that year the speed record was forty-eight miles an hour, while the length of time that a machine kept in the air was 4 hours and 17 minutes. The present record for speed is 108.9 miles per hour, made by Vedrines, of France, while another Frenchman, Fournier, raised the record for duration of flight to 13 hours and 17 minutes. Busson, still another Frenchman, recently established a record for speed with passengers. With five persons with him in his machine he made 54 miles an hour in sustained flight. The war department records show that six persons have been caried to a height of 2,053 feet.

TARHEEL COLLECTORSHIP REACHES WHITE HOUSE

Simmons and Craig Urge A. D. Watts, Who Is Opposed by Secretary Daniels

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—E. M. House, of Austin, Tex., intimate friend and adviser of President Wilson, said good-by to the president today, as he will sail in a few days for a long sojourn in Europe.

Governor Craig and Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, and a delegation of prominent persons from that state urged the president today to appoint A. W. Watts, of Statesville, N. C., collector of internal revenue for the western district.

Mr. Watts claims his appointment has been held up because Secretary Daniels, who hails from North Carolina, has been interested in bringing before the president other candidates for the office. Mr. Wilson did not indicate his preference.

FLORIDIAN MAY PRESIDE IN THOMAS WATSON CASE

Guyt McLendon Says Judge Hasn't Been Found Who Will Serve

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 12.—Guyt McLendon, of Georgia, former railroad commissioner, and attorney for Thomas E. Watson in the prosecution against him by the government for sending obscene matter through the mails, is in Tallahassee to address members tonight on Panama canal exposition.

He is emphatic in opinion that free tolls should not prevail, and says Jacksonville more than any other city in the south will benefit by the canal.

In regard to the Watson trial McLendon said it was not improbable that a Florida judge would sit on the case, Judge Pardee, he said, had not been able yet to find a judge to serve.

Judge Sambol A. Jones, Panama canal exposition commission, will speak also tonight.

An effort to cut down the appropriations for the institutions of higher learning in the house failed. The amendments to that effect being defeated. The total appropriation carried in the bill as recommended by the board of control is $428,000.

Oiling the County Roads.

The roads committee of the Fulton County Board of Commissioners has taken a timely and economic step in providing that fifty miles of highway shall be oiled before the summer season is under way with its heavy traffic and clouds of dust. This work will not only add to the comfort of travel but will also preserve the roads.

Indeed, the great problem in road maintenance is the protection of the binder, or upper surface which holds intact the material of the foundation layers. The main bed of a well built road will withstandstand much wear; it is the part that is constantly exposed to the wheels of vehicles, particularly automobile tires with their strong suction, that calls for the most careful attention.

When this binder is broken, a process of gradual destruction sets in, and it is then, too, that dust becomes so discomforting. The road bed itself is laid bare to the attacks of wind and rain and unless the break is repaired the road is literally blown or washed away.

One of the surest safeguards against this destruction is the adequate oiling of highways. A little money and labor spent in this precaution will save thousands of dollars and will go far toward relieving summer traffic of its most annoying and unhealthful features.

It is to be hoped that in time means will be provided for oiling all the roads of Fulton county, or at least the main highways. There are few communities where travel is so heavy and so continuous. The county's drives are one of its most inviting as well as useful assets. They should be protected and kept as free from dust as possible.

And some magazine poems are all gas and no meter.

The less logic there is in a man's argument the louder he talks.

After a man becomes famous he doesn't need a press agent. His friends will then attribute to him all the ancient jokes they can dig up.

Why Such Delays on This Important Project?

The public is entitled to prompt action in the closing of the Forsyth street underpass or to some reasonable explanation of the continued delay.

There is apparently no excuse for postponing this improvement which has the sanction of the city authorities, the sanction of the State, the support of property owners immediately concerned, and the hearty approval of citizens in general.

Council has appropriated a fund sufficient to carry out this work in accordance with plans and estimates drawn by competent engineers. It only remains, therefore, for the committee that is directly responsible to see that a definite beginning is made.

There has been ample time to confer with the interested railroads and to reach an agreement that will be satisfactory to them as well as to the city. If, however, this has not yet been done, steps to that end should be taken forthwith. Through a special act of the Legislature Council has been authorized to close the underpass on the condition that its plans in this connection meet the approval of the State Railroad Commission and the Governor. The State's only requirement is that adequate inlets and outlets be provided to take the the underpass openings. These conditions can be met with little or no difficulty and both the railroads and the State officials can be satisfied.

There is thus no evident reason why work on closing the underpass should not begin in the immediate future, if the proper committee of council will but proceed to its duty. Traffic on Forsyth street is being blocked and business impeded simply because of the lack of energy and promptness on the part of those who have been entrusted with the supervision of this task.

Let something be done, and done promptly.

Better Trolley Service.

Few announcements have ever been more cheering *to the Atlanta public than which carries the as*surance of improved trolley car service. The Georgia Railway and Power Company shows a praiseworthy disposition to meet the city's growing traffic needs without positive orders from the State Railroad Commission. The improvements which that body has indicated as being necessary or desirable will be carried into effect voluntarily, it is said, and as promptly as circumstances will permit.

One of the most helpful of the promised improvements will be the displacement of small cars with larger and more modernly designed cars, capable of seating from thirty-six to forty-eight persons. Indeed, it is said that the standard Atlanta street car will soon be the pay-as-you-enter type now operated on a few of the longer routes. This improvement will entail considerable expense on the copany, necessitating as it will the abandonment of much equipment. That, however, is a factor with which every public service company located in a rapidly growing city must reckon; and in the long run the cost of the improvements will be more than balanced by the efficiency thereby attained.

It is said that in addition to larger cars, a greater number of cars and more frequent schedules will be installed on lines where traffic is particularly heavy.

The value of such improvements cannot be overestimated. The will not only add to the comfort and convenience of individual passengers, but also to the business interests and the prestige of the community as a whole. One of the most striking evidences of Atlanta's growth has been the continual demand for perfected and extended street car service. The city is expanding in every direction and its population is becoming more dense as well as more widely distributed. It is very gratifying to know that the Georgia Railway and Power Company is planning to meet these ever-increasing needs.

Hereafter an income will be known as a salary that is taxed.

The weather man is respectfully reminded that this isn't the open season for winter.

The weather man predicts rising temperature this week, which would be both welcome and seasonable.

The Junior Order of The Chamber of Commerce.

The suggestion that there be established a junior order of the Chamber of Commerce has appealed to young Atlantians no less keenly than to their elders and the outlook is now cheering for a speedy fruition of this happy idea.

If one of the prime purposes of education is to fit boys for good citizenship, and to enable them to play worthily the part of their fathers, then the educational value of this plan is beyond reckoning. Indeed, membership and activity in such an organization would be worth as much in their way as any course of study which a boy might pursue at school. He would thus be brought into direct and intimate touch with the realities of business and civic life. He would be given something definite and inspiriting to do for the betterment of his community. He would come to realize the presence and the meaning of public duties; and what surer stimulus to character could be found?

Not only for the good of the boys but also for the good of the Chamber of Commerce and of the city, this plan should be carried into effect. There are many enterprises to which the boys of Atlanta, whether they are in school or at work, could render substantial service. In this connection, Mr. Moore, president of the Chamber of Commerce, recently called attention to illustrated books on city planning which are now used in the public schools of Chicago. The development of the city along lines of comfort, efficiency, cleanliness and beauty is a task which must have the interest and support of the younger generation if it is duly to succeed.

What the Boy Scouts have done in other fields, a Junior Order of the Chamber of Commerce can do as well and with as much enthusiasm for Atlanta's commercial and civic progress. It is to be hoped that this interesting enterprise will be consummated.

Apparently Governor Johnson is Colonel Roosevelt's secretary of state.

Professor Taft would do well to hold up the present administration to his pupils as a model.

Tag Day.

The heart of old Scrooge himself would have grown springlike, had it been his good fortune to live in a town like Atlanta and come under the gracious and jocund spell of Tag Day.

Certain it is that there are no unconverted Scrooges in this good city on Monday, May the twelfth; or, if by chance there should be, they will not dare come forth. Tag Day is an established custom which all Atlantians observe with enthusiasm because of the admirable institution it represents and the delightful spirit it infuses. Its purpose is to raise funds for the Sheltering Arms and the allied endeavors which that great charity has developed. Let everybody yield promptly and generously to the army of fair "taggers."

Don't lose that tag.

At any rate, the government won't tax the outgo.

One feels relieved that President Wilson is in charge of the situation.

One of his critics calls President Wilson "schoolmaster and a crank." President Wilson, of course, won't mind, but what do the school teachers of the country think of being compared to cranks?

THE TAX OF IGNORANCE

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

The human race since time began has been preyed upon by parasites, bloodsuckers and thieves. History is but a record of the systematic, institutional plunder of the people by the shrewd and selfish few. It has been a lamb populace managed by wolf exploiters. Mankind has been taxed incalculably, taxed of money, blood, life.

But of all known taxes that of IGNORANCE has been the greatest, includes perhaps all other taxes. All the tyrannies of rulers, kings, upper castes and cabals have not equalled in their pillage the amount robbed of humanity by Ignorance. All the pirates of the Spanish Main, all the buccaneers, freebooters, highway robbers, burglars and thugs have not taken from us so vast a pile of goods as has this same Ignorance. Not all the swindling schemes of mining shares, watered railway stocks, wildcat investments, predatory trusts, stock exchanges, and money powers have so depleted us as Ignorance. All our loss by waste and profligacy cannot equal our loss by Ignorance.

Ignorance claims its cent per cent in all trades. Nineteenths of the failures are due to Ignorance. Boys enter into business untrained, uninformed; they go down in the struggle. The slums and prisons are full of men who stumbled into crime because they entered the battle for success without skill or weapons.

Civilization systematically keeps its girls in ignorance of the laws of their bodies, of the significance and functions of sex. The hordes of women wrecks that swarm in our cities is the resulting tax of Ignorance. How much domestic tragedy is due to the same cause! Our entire literature teems with sex-suggestion; we do everything to arouse passion, nothing to instruct it.

In the way of hygiene what a measureless tribute the race has paid to Ignorance. The pests of former ages, cholera, the black death and the red death, the multitude of corpses heaped up, simply because people did not know enough to keep clean!

The myriad lives that have been darkened, and bodies tortured, by sincere but narrow men playing upon the common Ignorance of the unknown! This tax which the hierarchy has levied on the light and joy of souls is perhaps most horrible of all. A tax due to pure Ignorance.

War, it is impossible to pile up superlatives of execration, curses cannot be screamed too loud, to do justice to its abysmal infamy; and there never was a war that was not due to Ignorance. The spectre of every war shall arise on Judgment Day to point a de*nouncing finger at the rulers of men; for it is only to* cover their stupidity that the commons are led forth to slaughter. "There never was a war that could not have been better settled in some other way." Add, then, to your tax of Ignorance all them that sleep in mounds by the Rappahannock, that perished at Ladysmith, San Juan, or Sadowa, and all other of those orgies of blood and hate that fill the pages of history as the stars fill the sky.

Think of the tax of economic Ignorance! Money piled up in extravagance here, and yonder human creatures starving; all because we don't know how to distribute the products of labor!

Look at the human beings crowded like cattle into the street cars, look at the public everywhere insulted, bullied, assaulted, and we submit, because we don't know how to help ourselves.

The most economical thing the United States could do would be to spend a billion dollars more a year to give ALL children an education, and thus do what may be done to remove the taxation imposed by Ignorance.

It is The Only Way!

Wayside Tales

NOT HIS HONOR.

Chief Justice Isaac Russell, of the court of special sessions, tells how he went to the city hall to call on the mayor on a rainy day, and as he was leaving the building he slipped and bumped all the way down the stone steps. A man rushed up, helped him to his feet and asked:

"Is your honor hurt?"

"No," replied the judge; "my honor remains intact, but my spine seems to be jarred."—New York Sun.

A QUEER DRINK.

An Englishman met a Frenchman at a hotel in London and asked him what he would have to drink.

"I will take a drop of contradiction," said the Frenchman.

"Contradiction? What on earth do you mean?" questioned the Englishman.

"Well, you put in ze whisky to make it strong, ze water to make it weak, ze lemon to make it sour, ze sugar to make sweet; then you say, 'Here's to you,' and you drink it yourself!" was the quaint reply.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

HER PROBABLE MEANING.

"She always prays to be kept from getting too much wrapped up in things; what do you suppose she means?"

"Probably she sleeps in an oldfashioned nightdress or a folding bed."—Houston Post.

CONTEMPORARY HISTORY.

The teacher in the country school decided to have each one of her pupils draw some of their lessons that they might have some practice in this direction.

She, therefore, recited the story of the landing of the Pilgrims, and after she had finished she asked that each pupil draw from his or her own idea a picture of Plymouth Rock.

The majority went to work, but one little boy hesitated and finally raised his hand.

"What is it, George?"

"Please, ma'am, which do you want us to draw, a hen or a rooster?"—Harper's Bazar.

THE INCOME TAX

V.—Methods of Administration.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The machinery for collecting the income tax provided for in the Underwood bill promises to be much simpler in its make-up and more easily operated than the machinery of collecting similar taxes in any other country. Especially will it be far in advance of the English methods of collecting income taxes. There one detail has been added, here another, and elsewhere still another, until it resembles a house that has been built a room at a time. No Englishman would write an income tax law like the present one if the books were clean, and yet nothing short of wiping off the slate would permit much improvement.

The proposed American law does away with statements and refunds and a half dozen other cumbersome features of the English law. John Bull has his subjects pay their full taxes, in many instances, and then, under a system of refunds, pays some of the tax back again. For instance, here is a man whose income does not exceed the usual exemption who is a stockholder in a corporation. The corporation must pay his tax on his income from it, whether that income is large enough to be taxed or not. If it is not large enough he can have it refunded to him afterward. This is but one of the many unsatisfactory features of the administrative phases of the English income tax law.

The proposed law here does not intend that the government shall collect any tax upon exempted incomes, whether these incomes arise wholly or in part from investments or not. Consequently, a man who owns stock in a corporation but whose income is not above $4,000, needs only to notify the corporation that he claims an exemption for the income he derives from it, and if his statements are true he will have no further worry. His English brother sometimes has to unwind miles of red tape to get back which ought never to have been assessed against him.

The reader who has had assessments made against his stock and has seen them paid out of the earnings, has experienced just about what will take place under the income tax law. Every corporation in the country will be required to furnish the internal revenue bureau with a list of its stockholders, its bondholders and other deriving an income of more than $4,000 from it. They will be required to pay income tax upon the income received from them by every such stock or bondholder who does not file a claim of exemption. Therefore, the only way to escape the tax is to serve notice upon the person authorized to pay it for you that your entire income is not enough to exceed the exemption. If a man is a stockholder in a half dozen companies he can claim exemption in those from which his total income does not exceed $4,000. Or, if he has an income of $1,000 from each of three companies, and an income of $6,000 from a fourth corporation, he can claim his full exemption from the one corporation and allow the three to pay the tax in full and the fourth only on the $2,000 above the exemption.

The internal revenue bureau will have a most elaborate checking system by which it can trace up most of the people subject to income taxation. First, it will have a national card index of all the people who enjoy annual incomes in excess of $4,000. This will be built up from many sources. In the first place, there will be the list of income receivers from all corporations, joint stock companies and others who must advise the government as to the names and addresses of all those enjoying taxable incomes. This will give a clue to perhaps two-thirds of the people likely to have taxable incomes. Then there are the people who are large realty owners. As their deeds are on record, and their property listed upon the tax books of the cities and counties in which the property is located, the internal revenue collectors can check them up. They can also ascertain who collects the rents, who handles the interest accounts, and who looks after the other affairs of large property holders and mortgage holders. Wherever possible these people will be asked to remit the income tax directly to the internal revenue collector, and they will be under a heavy penalty to make such returns as will keep the treasury department advised as to the people with whom they deal who are liable to income taxation, and as to the amounts of their incomes derived through sources of which they have legal knowledge.

The determination of the framers of the proposed law will tend to make it difficult for rich men to escape their taxes, since most of their holdings are in such shape that the treasury department can keep tab upon them and check up the income returns of an individual with the returns from these other sources. Where the two sets of returns agree there will be no further trouble, but the man whose individual return is lower than the returns made for him will have a rather unpleasant chance to explain.

In this respect the law undoubtedly will prove an aid in determining just what are the profits of big corporations and wealthy individuals. Just as the interstate commerce commission has compelled the railroads to keep records that show exactly what are the profits of their corporations, and as the corporation tax law requires corporations to show their actual incomes, so will the individual have to give in his income. This probably will prove of much value for statistical purposes.

There will be no undue inquisitorial proceedings in the collection of the income tax, if the present policy with reference to the corporation tax is continued. The corporations are given to understand that if they come forward and try to meet the law they have nothing to fear from its operation, but that if they try to get around it there will be an investigation that will investigate.

The return of every corporation, stock company and individual subject to the tax will be carefully checked up, one feature with another, and also with other information in hand, and if there is no evidence of any tax dodging, willful or unintentional, that will about end the matter.

But if it be found that the person making the return has failed to list the items of his income in reasonable accord with experience, he may be asked why. For instance, here is a man who reports a net income of $12,000 a year as a merchant. He is required to give his gross income, and also his expenses of conducting the business. If the returns show a net income very much higher than might be expected from such a gross income, he may be asked to make sure there is no mistake about his gross income. Or, if his operating expenses are out of all proportion to what might be expected on a net income of $12,000 a year, he may be requested to advise the treasury department whether he has not overestimated his operating expenses.

After the proposed law goes into effect the treasury department will go to work to frame rules and regulations for the assessment and collection of the tax. These will amplify every paragraph of the law and will be the chart by which the collectors will steer. These rules and regulations will be rather voluminous, and will be so comprehensive that they will cover the great majority of the questions that might arise in the administration of the tax. But there will, from time to time, arise questions that no one has foreseen. These matters will be referred back to the treasury department, and the internal revenue bureau, under the guidance of the secretary, will make new rules to cover these cases as they come up. In a year or two of experience nearly every contingency that may arise will have come up, and practically every question that may arise will have been passed upon.

At the annual convention of the New Jersey diocese the question of the minimum wage for ministers arose and $1,200 was fixed as the low limit for married clergymen. The ridiculous material reward for preaching is another reason, we believe, why Smith doesn't go to church. Money, as Mr. Carnegie and Mr. Rockefeller so frequently tell us, is not everything; but a minister can't say that to a dunning landlord or grocer. It may not be much of an argument to put up to a collector for a steel rail company or an oil corporation either.

Also there might be less justification for the talk about how little college graduates know if the incentive to be a college professor were greater than mere altruism.

DEPEW ACTS AS GUIDE TO CAPITOL SIGHTSEERS

Former U. S. Senator Shows Peace Delegates Through the Senate Chamber

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—"And now, gentlemen, we come to the chamber of the senate of the United States."

The speaker was former Senator Chauncey M. Depew and he was showing the capitol to the visiting commissioners who had come to arrange the centenary celebration of the treaty of Ghent.

The party, which included Andrew Carnegie and other notables, had asked the former senator to show them the spots with which he had long been familiar.

"Is it much changed, may I ask?" said a British delegate.

"The senate changes," replied Guide Depew, "except as to personnel, I happen to know from personal experience. The only other change is that we have one new clock over the vice president's desk. The chamber is the same. Senators dearly love snuff, and snuff boxes were provided. They have been unmoved. There, gentlemen, is the Republican snuff box, and over here is the Democratic snuff box. Just as they were long before our time."

"Have you many rules?" asked Lord Weardale, another British delegate.

"No rules to shut off debate," said Guide DePew, "a senator can talk as long as he wants."

"And when he talks too long, you call that filibustering, do you not?" ventured an Australian.

"We call it a nuisance," replied the venerable and polished capitol guide, "and the senators usually give the filibuster the benefit of their absence."

"Now we come to the marble room," Guide DePew continued, escorting his interested sightseers across the senate lobby.

"Here's where senators meet their constituents. You come here and send in your card to the senator and he comes out to see you if he wants to. If he doesn't want to, the page tells you he has gone to the ball game or something like that.

"Now follow me, please, to just one more room. This, gentlemen, is the room occupied only by the president of the United States. Always heretofore the president came here only at the closing hours of congress to sign bills. Years ago Washington and Adams used to come up here often but no one ever did that since until now. President Wilson has revived that old custom and he comes up here three or four times a week to confer with senators and members of the house.

"This room is now becoming quite familiar even to senators.

"And now we will pass through to the dome," said Guide Depew, as he led the peace party along through the passages and eventually resumed his role of former senator from New York.

STRIKERS WRECK AND BURN CINCINNATI CARS

Crews of Street Cars Beaten and Driven Off by Infuriated Strikers

(By Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, May 12.—Attempts of the Cincinnati Traction company to operate street cars today resulted in the burning of one and the desertion of five others whose crews were beaten or forced to run to cover.

The company announced, however, that attempts to run cars would be continued. Additional trouble is feared.

An Avondale car was burned and its crew fled. Crews were driven from two other Avondale cars near Seventh and Sycamore street. In the West End two John street cars were attacked and their crews beaten off.

CINCINNATI, May 12.—No attempt was made early today by the Cincinnati Traction company, whose system has been tied up since Saturday afternoon by a strike of its employes, to run any of its cars. The company has about 500 imported men at its barns, and it is said an effort will be made to resume service some time during the day.

No reply has been received by Mayor Hunt to his letter to President Keasley Schoepf, of the Cincinnati Traction company, demanding that the company arbitrate its dispute with its employes. The mayor in the letter, which is considered as practically an ultimatum, said that he would begin court proceedings to place the company in the hands of a receiver and to annul its franchise, if his proposal was not accepted by tonight.

WILL INDICT DELINQUENT DEALERS IN NEAR-BEER

Clarence Bell, State's Appointee to Collect Taxes, Takes Vigorous Measures

Clarence Bell, of the law firm of Bell & Ellis, who recently was appointed by the governor to collect the tax from the delinquent near-beer dealers, announces that unless those dealers who not yet have paid this tax, settle their account with the state at once, they will be indicted.

This announcement came following a conference between Mr. Bell and Solicitor Hugh Dorsey Monday morning. Previous to Mr. Bell's appointment there were approximately 150 near-beer dealers in the city who had paid the tax. About fifty had not settled.

Although Mr. Bell was appointed hardly a month ago, he has collected already the tax from a majority of the delinquent dealers, a task which it has taken many months to accomplish in other Georgia cities.

As a result of Mr. Bell's energy there are now hardly twenty delinquent dealers. These are the ones who probably will be indicted within the next few days.

U. S. SUPREME COURT REFUSES MINEHILL HEARING

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The supreme court today refused a rehearing in the Minehill corporation's tax case, in which it recently was decided that a corporation engaged only in leasing its property and investing its funds was not "doing business" so as to be liable for the tax. The decision exempted hundreds of railroad companies from paying the tax, as well as telegraph and other corporations.

Attorney General McReynolds asked a rehearing on the ground that the decision was in conflict with previous corporation tax decisions of the court and would lead to inequality in the operation of the law.

CREST OF MISSISSIPPI RIVER FLOOD PASSES

Flood Waters Reach Gulf of Mexico and Relieve Strain on Levees

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—The crest of the big 1913 flood has passed out of the Mississippi river into the Gulf of Mexico. Falling stages were recorded today at all points along the Mississippi south of St. Louis except at New Orleans, where the river gauge was stationary, and the weather bureau issued a bulletin announcing there would be no further rise in the river.

At Red River Landing, where the Gibson's Landing crevasse water is slowly returning to the Mississippi, the gauge registered 50.4 feet, a drop of two-tenths of a foot during the past forty-eight hours.

At New Orleans the mark was 20.1 feet, the same as Saturday morning.

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 12.—Search for six-year-old Albert Smith, believed to have been kidnaped, continued here today. The lad has been missing since Friday.

The butler said he thought the lad's cries a part of childish play.

nothing to say about the expediency of placing such a law on the statute books at this time."

Congressman Edwards Talks Of Japanese Situation

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 12.—"There is no doubt in my mind but the Japanese situation is far more serious than is generally thought," was the statement of Congressman Charles G. Edwards here today.

"It is easily one of the most serious questions of the day," he continued. "That is evidenced by the fact that Japan has considered it of such magnitude that she has sent a special envoy to America to protest against the bill. This, to me, tends to show that the position taken by the Oriental country is such that action by Governor Johnson will be apt to bring on trouble.

"There is no criticism of California in passing the bill, for she certainly has that right, as has every other state in the union, but the question which arises is one of political expediency at the present time to cause a possible conflict with a powerful nation. Then again, is the United States prepared for war? This question of licking Japan before breakfast is a dream. It would be a long and bitterly fought war.

"Japan's first move would be to attack the Philippine islands, and thereby establish a southern naval base for supplies. I believe Japan would capture the Philippines. Then the United States would be up against it. One of the greatest troubles at the present time is that the movement of ships are too far from the base of supplies."

"There is no doubt that the Philippines and waters would be the scene of the war. Let Japan capture the islands and the United States would be under great difficulties.

"The matter is most serious and California should think long before involving the United States in what might cause a war, merely to serve the selfish ends of the state.

"There is no doubt," continued the congressman, "about this country being unprepared for war and especially is this true on sea, if Japan is to be the enemy. Their fleet is powerful and they are building three more vessels this year. If war comes, it will be fought on the water and the United States will be lacking."

"I am in favor of a greater navy" was the emphatical statement of Mr. Edwards. "A war with Japan would be fought on the water. We must prepare for any possible contingency which may arise by building a larger navy. If necessary cut down the army. Curtain that expense, and put the money into the greater navy. That is what is needed.

"We have an enormous coast line, and every coast town should favor a greater navy. Suppose Japan should get a fleet into the Atlantic ocean. There appears to be but little doubt that the fleet would get up to Savannah. What would be the result? The town would be captured, troops landed, and every neighboring county would be devastated. Every article of food would be taken and homes burned right and left. That for one reason alone the cost towns should favor a greater navy."

Four Fair Taggers, Locked in Jail, Get A Man's Last Dime

"It serves them right—I am glad of it, for they made me buy four tags," growled a grizzled police sergeant when he heard that four young women, selling tags for the Sheltering Arms, had been locked up at police headquarters.

The four workers were not really prisoners, but for about five minutes they thought that they were.

Shortly after noon Monday Miss Annie Green, Miss Mary Dorman, Miss Dorothy Fleischman and Mrs. Gilbert Fraser, four members of the tax committee, drove up to headquarters in an auto, and took the "Bastile" by storm.

They tagged everybody in sight, and finally chased the turnkey straight down the corridor of cells.

"The turnkey slipped up through the matron's ward and came back to the main door leading to the cells.

"He saw that the several ladies were busy giving tags to the prisoners. Just then he had a call to search a prisoner and couldn't leave the door unlocked, so he turned the key that made the four ladies prisoners.

Five minutes later it was a refined group of young women, who were given their liberty.

"Jail is not so bad for five minutes, anyway," remarked one of them.

Most of the prisoners were given tags, gratis, by the four fair taggers, but one young white man handed a pretty member of the committee his very last dime.

CHICAGO OFFICIAL MAKES DEFENSE FOR O'HARA

Treasurer of Cook County Says That Charges Were Only for Coercion

CHICAGO, May 12.—When the senate committee investigating an allegation of immorality against Lieutenant Governor O'Hara resumed its hearing today William L. O'Connell, treasurer of Cook county, took the witness stand.

O'Connell's testimony was confirmatory of that given by the lieutenant governor on Saturday. It was through O'Connell that O'Hara received his first definite information of the Maud Robinson affidavit.

O'Connell said he was visited by Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, of Sangamon county, who is a friends of Samuel Davis, a liquor dealer of Springfield, Ill. with information of the existence of the affidavit. In effect Sullivan's communication was that unless O'Hara curbed the vice investigation at Springfield the affidavit would be made the basis of public charges.

This document made no direct charge of immorality, but related circumstances which might be construed as supporting such a charge.

O'Connell talked the matter over with O'Hara and in the end advised O'Hara to let the alleged "frame up" against him run its course.

O'Connell said Sullivan told him that Davis had been summoned as a witness before the vice commission, of which O'Hara is the chairman, at its first sitting at Springfield, but that he did not want to be a witness. Davis proposed to use the affidavit as a club over O'Hara to avoid testifying.

The occasion will be a lawn party on the beautiful grounds of the seminary on Peachtree road.

Mrs. Speer Entertains

Mrs. William A. Speer entertained informally at cards at her home on Peachtree street this afternoon, her guests being the members of her euchre club.

The house was most attractively decorated for the occasion, sweet peas, Paul Neyron roses and white spirea being effectively used.

The card tables were placed in the sun parlor, where the pretty green plants and spirea made a pretty effect.

Buffet refreshments were served from the dining room, where all the decorations were pink sweet peas. The fragrant blossoms were arranged in plateau effect on the table and were used in clusters in the room and throughout the house.

The prizes were silver jewel cases.

Sixteen players were present.

St. Elizabeth's Guild Country Fair

On Friday, May 23, the members of St. Elizabeth's Guild are to give a delightful entertainment on the shaded lawns of Mrs. Don A. Pardee and Mrs. Taylor, 19 Ponce de Leon avenue. It is to be a county fair and many and varied will be the booths found there.

One of the most interesting will be the housekeepers' booth, where useful articles of various kinds may be purchased. At another may be found fresh eggs and fresh vegetables raised in some of Atlanta's fine kitchen gardens. There will be ice cream and candy booths and delicious sandwiches and iced tea will be sold.

This lawn fete is something unusual and it is hoped all the friends of St. Luke's will be there.

"Andrew the Glad"

Everybody who has not made friends with "Andrew the Glad" should seek an introduction at once, for Andrew is a friend worth knowing. He lives in Maria Thompson Davies' book of the same name, and is a satisfying combination of human frailty and high idealism.

The book breathes that high spirit which sets its seal of nobility upon the aristocracy and flower of the south. While there is nothing of sectionalism in the simple little story of Andrew and the rest of the "glad crowd," it portrays the pride and strength of southern men and women; and shows, by suggestion more than anything else, the undying loyalty of the sons and daughters of the south.

But the theme of the book is love, and it is a love story without a villain. There is a shadow of a villain, it is true, but in the end he vanishes before the love and brave sincerity of Andrew the Glad and Caroline Darrah Brown. Caroline is one of the heroines, but she is a very every-day sort of a girl, with the charming appeal of a real person.

Phoebe, a modern young woman with ideas of her own, is another of the heroines; and her treatment of David Kildare and her final capitulation to his loving siege of years makes a second story in the one book.

"Andrew the Glad" is the kind of book that takes one back to the "glad days" of his own youth. The beauty, high spirit and idealism of the story, thrills the heart with a little painful touch of sadness that the glad days are no more.

The story, simple, unaffected and of irresistible human appeal, has a unique charm in these days of problematical fiction. Aspirations and graces of character are polished into jewel-like loveliness, and human faults are touched with a kindly and sometimes slightly humorous charity.

To read "Andrew the Glad" is like meeting and talking with friends. When David Kildare tells his troubles to the major, the reader sympathizes; and when he goes into politics "to win without the spending of a dollar," one pulls hard to help him out and glories with him when he wins not only his election but the recalcitrant Phoebe as well.

The trouble of poetic Andrew, who can build bridges as well as write poems and plays, and of Caroline Darrah Brown, daughter of the carpet baggers, who won all of Andrew's father's lands and money, and drove the first Andrew to suicide, create a ready sympathy.

The story comes to a happy ending, of course, and leaves one in pleasant uplifted state of mind.

Miss Viola Johnston to Wed Mr. William Hamilton Felton, Jr.

Great interest is being felt in the engagement announced today of Miss Viola Johnston, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McEwen Johnston, and William Hamilton Felton, Jr., son of Judge William H. Felton.

Miss Johnston, since her debut a season ago, has been one of the most admired and popular girls in the Macon social life. She has visited throughout the states and has been universally admired. Since her debut she has been entertained charmingly in New York, Baltimore, St. Louis, Louisville, Ky., and all through Georgia.

As a school girl she attended the fashionable St. Timothy's school in Catonsville, outside of Baltimore, and after her graduation there spent a year abroad studying French and German.

Miss Johnston is a beautiful girl, in feature and disposition, and has her mother's charm of manner.

Mr. Felton, one of the promising young men of the state, is associated with his father, Judge Felton, in business. His school and college days were spent at Lawrenceville prep and at the University of Virginia. At both places he made fine records. For several years he held the track championship of America.

Miss Johnston's friends in Macon will rejoice that her wedding will not take her away from her home.—Macon Telegraph.

J. F. EMERSON ADDRESSES AUDIENCE AT CABLE HALL

"Was Man Created for Heaven?" Is Subject of Interesting Lecture

J. F. Emerson, Bible student and lecturer, of Minneapolis, Minn., spoke Sunday afternoon, in the Cable concert hall, on the topic, "Was Man Created for Heaven?"

He said in part:

"We are living in a time filled with restlessness and dissatisfaction. Men in general are looking forward to a better condition than the one in which we now find ourselves. We see the evidence of this by the various reform parties, the efforts to restrain those in power from oppressing the weak, the Socialist movement, the cry of good citizenship, the struggles on the part of the labor unions. All of these mark the longings in the human breast for something better and the cravings to bring in a happier time. But mankind has been struggling for centuries to bring about the 'Golden Age,' and we have not yet reached Utopia where all can have peace and happiness and a perfect arrangement of social and political laws. In fact, we find that instead of meeting with success the whole world is nearer the verge of anarchy than ever before. Is it to be a case of 'Love's Labor Lost?' Are all of their strivings to come to naught?

"To find the cause of the world's failure it is necessary for us to turn to the Bible. Here we read that when mankind were acquainted with God they did not wish to retain Him in their knowledge, wherefore God gave them up." The Apostle Paul in the second chapter of Romans then proceeds to give us a dark picture. Instead of man being in the moral image of God he has fallen to a condition where selfishness now reigns; and instead of entertaining thoughts of generosity as to what would be for the general good, the first thought is regarding self. It is this disposition to view everything from the selfish standpoint and not to consider the rights of others that will eventually cause the clash between the masses and those in power, whether it be civil or financial."

May Days of Preparation

It doesn't much matter what your plans for June, July or August are, but you must agree that your comfort during those months will be greater if in the pleasant month of May yo take advantage of all of the opportunities offered for preparation.

Last-minute shopping is distressing and unsatisfactory. The weather is warm, the streets and shops are crowded, and the stocks are not nearly as fresh and attractive as they are now. Therefore be forehanded and "let your head save your heels."

Plan your summer outfit now, no matter how small or how extensive it may be; and not only plan it but get it. You will have a lot more fun later on if you have provided yourself with what you need in apparel and sporting goods before the season is in full swing.

If you have any doubt about what you want look at the advertisements in THE JOURNAL and you will find plenty of suggestions.

A PRETTY ATLANTIAN

MISS ELIZABETH HERRING.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Said Jimmy Skunk unto himself,
"What's to be done's worth doing well."
And straightway did his very best
His plan to every one to tell.

And so it was that nearly every one who lives on the Green Meadows or in the Green Forest or around the Smiling Pool or along the Laughing Brook came at sundown at the big hickory tree on the bank of the Smiling Pool. Peter Rabbit was the first to arrive. You can always trust Peter to be on hand early when anything unusual is happening. Of course Jimmy Skunk was on hand early, for, you remember, it was Jimmy who had called the meeting. Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, Chatterer the Red Squirrel, and Striped Chipmunk came together, scolding at each other all the way. Digger the Bader waddled over, Billy Mink, Jerry Muskrat, and Little Joe Otter were on hand as usual. Danny Meadow Mouse and even timid little Whitefoot the Wood Mouse came. Reddy Fox was there, though the truth is he had not been invited, and it was suspected that the real reason of his coming was the hope that he would have a chance to catch one of the littler folks on the way home.

Johnny Chuck wasn't there. You see, it was a long way from the old orchard where Johnny now lived to the Smiling Pool, and Johnny did not like to leave his home and Polly Chuck and the two little Chucks. The very last to arrive were Bobby Coon and Prickly Porky, the porcupine, who were neighbors and came together. When Jimmy Skunk had counted noses and made sure that there were no more to come he climbed up on an old log and made a speech. It was a very short speech, but it was enough. He told all about how Unc' Billy Possum had been caught by Farmer Brown's boy, and how he was a prisoner in a wire-covered box in Farmer Brown's dooryard, and everybody looked at his nearest neighbor and said, "Too bad! Too bad!" You see everybody, one nearly everybody, likes Unc' Billy Possum.

Reddy Fox alone looked pleased and he tried to hide a smile of satisfaction behind one hand. You see, once upon a time Unc' Billy Possum made Reddy Fox look very foolish in the eyes of all the other little meadow and forest people. So Reddy was glad that Unc' Billy was in trouble now, for Reddy Fox never forgets or forgives.

"Now," concluded Jimmy Skunk, "I've called this meeting to see if between us we can not think of some way to help Unc' Billy Possum and the baby Chuck free."

"Does the wire go all over the box?" inquired Happy Jack Squirrel.

"No," replied Jimmy Skunk, "it only covers the top."

"If it was only safe I might go up there in daytime and gnaw a hole through the box," said Happy Jack, thoughtfully. "But I wouldn't dare go up there by dpay, for I would surely be seen, and you know I can't see very well at night. Besides, it would take me a long time to gnaw a hole big enough for Unc' Billy to crawl through."

Up spoke little Danny Meadow Mouse. "There's the fellow to do the job!"

At the sound of Danny's squeakly little voice everybody turned to look. He was pointing straight at—whom do you think?" Why, Prickly Porky, the porcupine.

"Certainly, certainly! I'm just the fellow!" said Prickly Porky. "I'll be glad to do something for Unc' Billy Possum." You know Prickly Porky is as slow in his thinking as he is in his movements, and he never, never would have thought himself or a way to help Unc' Billy out.

THE EVENING STORY

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

CARELY'S handsome face was wreathed in a smile as he glanced across at his friend and partner, Layly. "Sil, it's like taking money off a counter to get $500. All I've got to do is to say about ten words."

Layly raised his lean face from the paper he was studying. Then go to it, Bob, and gather it in; what's the matter with you? Put it into the pool-room with mine, an' we'll get some stuff that'll make the other places look sick!"

Carely sank his hands into his pockets. "I could get it easy enough, but in a way I don't want to. You see, I went up there to the avenue boarding house so's I'd have a good chance to look over the place around there an' see if I could make a haul some night. It's too good, I've decided. But in this house was a girl, Grace Lawton. She was the only girl that none of the dubs there was going with or talkin' to. I didn't have anything to do, and so I'd hang around with her a little while. That pleased the girl so that I did it some more—just missionary work, you understand? Then I began to see that she had the real stuff in her, and hung around a little more, you know. She ain't much to look at, that, say, she's the kind of a girl that keeps a fellow straight; and even if her phiz is a little out of plumb, she's got the biggest bunch of brown hair I ever saw, an' it's all her own!"

Layly grinned as he looked up. "Bob, you talk as if you were dead gone on her now," he said, putting up the paper and leaning back.

"There's where you're off, my boy, I'm simply giving you an idea of how easy it is." Carely answered, his face flushing under the taunt.

"It is easy. Why not put through? The 'men' would come in handy," Layly said.

"It is easy, I tell you. She saved this $500 out of her wages. No one ever took her anywhere, and so she hasn't had to dress. I've throwing the bluff that I work in an investment office downtown, and she has so much faith in me I'd simply have to work around and suggest that she let me have it."

Laly sat up. "Do it! That's what! Of course, you know?"

"Cut it, man! I'm no slopped over lover. What's the matter with you? I'll show up here Friday night with the dosh!" Carely said with vehemence. "If I don't, put me down as a dubhead!"

When Carely left the pool room he headed directly for the avenue, riding most of the way. As he neared the house he saw a small, girlish figure coming toward him. He recognized it, and stopped. "Hullo, Grace. Where are you bound for?" he queried.

A small face looked up into his with sudden gladness. "I'm going to mail this letter at the corner. Come with me, do!" she urged in her quick way.

"Sure!" he answered, and started along.

She thrust a little hand in the hollow of his arm and he held it firmly. She looked up a little questioningly, but he made no comment and the hand remained.

As they walked on he worked in a few suggestions to the effect that he had just got wise to a stunt in the investment line that was safe and sure. She listened with eagerness, and when they reached the house she was willing to turn her savings over to him. She would have to draw it from the bank and would give it to him the next noon.

He went to his room, smiling to himself, but as he started to enter his door he heard voices below and caught his name.

"So you've got a beau," a girl's voice said, a little amused note in it.

Her voice, softened as if by a hurt, came to him. "Please don't speak that way, Madge. He's just nice to me, that's all. I trust him and I like him, and he's the first one to be real friendly to me of all in this city." A door closed.

Carely snapped out his light with a slow motion. "Pshaw! it's all in the game!" he said after a moment.

At noon the next day she called him into one of the small reception rooms and counted out the money. She did it with childish pleasure and called him her banker.

That evening he prepared for his departure. Into his suit case he packed all that he cared to take. As he went downstairs he met the girl coming up. She greeted him with the swift smile that always seemed near to her eyes, and her love-hands touched his arm. The brown hair he admired was wavy and a little loose after long hours of work.

"Coming back, soon, Rob?" she asked.

"You bet. I'm going to my washerwoman's and then I'll be back, little one!" he answered.

She swayed a little under the last words and he was startled at himself. It was the first caress he had ever given her, in word form or otherwise.

He went on quickly, mentally kicking himself.

He got out easy enough, and he knew no one would miss him until the next day, and by that time he would be buried in the city section where his partner held forth—in the heaped, jumbled tenements and hovels where a man could hide in safety and where hundreds did.

An hour later found him in Layly's tobacco filled room. He put down the case and faced the grinning Layly.

"Ain't that risky, cartin' that case right out of the house?" inquired Layly. "They'll get wise."

"No, they won't. We fellows have to take our dirty stuff out to a washerwoman and we do it with our cases then. Now, boy, look at that!" Carely threw down the packages of bills.

Layly picked it up and thumbed the bills. He laughed. "Say, that's a like taking candy from a kid, ain't it? Five hundred in a walk!"

Carely stopped in his unpacking. Be-hit of liking for me—love, if you want to say it out—and I feel like a miserable cad." He got up. "Sil, I've been thinkin' a long time I'd cut out this fore him had come a vision of her small, smiling face, beautiful eyes and beautiful hair; he heard again the soft, pained voice answering the mocking tongue of the girl called Madge: "He's just nice to me, that's all, and I trust him and like him."

Carely sat down, leaving the case open. Layly looked across at him. "What ye thinkin' of?" he asked, still grinning.

Carely did not smile. "I'm thinking of what a dirty cur I am. I'm thinking that I've done dirt to the one person in all the world that ever showed a funny work. I can make a good living straight, and I'm going to. Hand over the money. I'm going back—to her."

Layly drew off and tried to jolly the younger fellow, but the face was firm and the voice became threatening.

"Hand over those bills, or—or—I'll break you." Carely said hoarsely.

"I never had you over 'men,' kid, that I get my paws on. You an' I don't want——"

"But we will," the other said grimly. Layly started for the door, but Carely caught him and bore him backward on the bed.

Layly's hand went to his hip. Carely knew what was there—a knife. The younger man set all his strength, raised Layly bodily and banged him against the hard wall. Layly went limp.

Carely rose to his feet with the bills in his hand. "Sorry, Sil, but this belongs to the little girl I love, an' it goes back to her."

Carely left just as Layly began to find himself, but no comment was exchanged—things were about to sudden changes in the lives they led. Layly would make no complaint; he had things in his life he did not care to have brought to light.

As Carely reached his lodging he saw a light in her room. The rest of the house was dark, and he wondered why she should be awke. Up on his landing a slight figure met him with a breathless "Oh, Rob!" It was a soft cry of relief and joy.

"What's wrong?" he asked.

"They said you had skipped'; that you left in your room——"

He put his suit case down and caught her in his arms. There she trembled like a bird frightened by a touch never

Atlantians High and Low Honor Mothers' Own Day; White Flower the Token

A spirit drifted over Atlanta Sunday—the spirit of Mothers' day—touching hearts with memory and peace that know only a fevered rush for 364 other days in the year, and leaving them the better for having worn, if only for a short while, a white flower in honor of her whose love is greater than any other that ever was on land or sea.

The white flower faded soon and was thrown away, but the thought which went with it did not die, and will linger long after the flower is forgotten.

No one was left out on Mothers' day. Gray-headed Atlantians who are themselves grandfathers wore a white rose in memory of a mother long since gone; business men who would scorn to don a flower on any day but this wore one and were not ashamed; little fellows in knickerbockers pinned a bud on their jackets and knew that their mothers loved them the better for it.

There was none too good or too bad to pass it by. From President Wilson and his cabinet in Washington, who went to church with the sign of the white flower in their button-holes, to the lowest derelict on Decatur street, who once was loved and kissed by a mother, the flower on their coats or the flower on some one else's coat, brought tenderer and purer thoughts.

In scores of pulpits both in Atlanta and throughout the nation men spoke with "Mother" as their subject. In Atlanta hotels there were subscription boxes for those mothers whose only home is the Home for Old Women, in West End.

It was such a day as cannot come too often; for on such a day the mother-love reigns supreme, and men feel what Kipling felt when he wrote:

"If I were damned of body and soul,
I know whose love would make me whole.
Mother o' mine; mother o' mine."

Returns Bank $1 That He Got Five Years Ago Under False Pretenses

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., May 10.—Remorse caused a man, whose name the First National bank won't divulge, to pay that institution $1 in "conscience money," which, he stated, he had fraudulently obtained from the bank five years ago, after having a check for $10 cashed. He returned to the bank shortly after cashing the check with a counterfeit dollar, which he claimed the bank had given him. On his making affidavit to that effect, he received another dollar. In paying his "conscience money" he stated he had placed the $10 in a clock and was confident some one substituted the counterfeit while his money was there.

Knocking Ump No Help After Game Is Lost

Anybody Can Cheer a Winner, but Few Can Take Defeat. Puerile to Hand Out Knocks and Blame the Umpire

Tech and Georgia conclude the 1913 baseball series in Atlanta at the new Grant athletic field on Friday and Saturday and maybe both games won't be real battles. Tech's ambition is to take at least one of the two games, which will give the Heisman bunch the series, while Georgia backers won't be content with less than a couple of wins, it taking two victories to give them an even break.

The games in Athens the past week were the biggest of surprises though neither was won by any fluke. It can not be pointed out that Tech won on this or that fluke. It was through a better knowledge of the game and ability to keep from going in their that gave the Jackets the edge necessary to win two games from a team that all along had been admitted as being one of the best ever turned out by the red and black.

The Tech youngsters went over to Athens determine to show all they had and this was done. Not one of the players went in the air. They knew they were each present for some one purpose and this duty they performed in approved fashion. They had been coached for just this series for weeks and weeks and the efforts of Coach Heisman were more than repaid when a couple of victories were slipped over, when the best the Techites hoped was an even break.

Since the stinging defat dished out by Tech some of the Georgia supporters have been inclined to lay the loss of the games to one of the umpires who happened to be a former Tech star. Now such as this is puerile in the extreme. It is a case of some sorehead who lost money handing out a few knocks and does not help in the least to keep up the real sportsmanlike rivalry which has existed between the two schools for so many years past. The true sport is the man who takes defeat as a matter of course and applauds the team that wins. Anybody can celebrate a victory but few can hold up under a defeat.

Half-and-Half With Willow

Yesterday's game with the Billikens wound up a most interesting series. This is about the most even break that has been played in the Southern for some time. The two teams got the same number of errors, had within one run of each other the same number of hits and the series was almost an equal break. The Crackers are going good again and should do better in the series with the Turtles.

Hoschton Winner

HOSCHTON, Ga., May 12.—Hoschton defeated a picked team from Auburn and Perry Raines college by a score of 7 to 16. The features of the game were the hitting of the Hoschton team and Smith's pitching. Hoschton has won every game played this season.

GEORGIA AND TECH MEET

ATHENS, Ga., May 12.—Georgia and Tech lock horns again today in a track meet. It is not known just what sort of a track team the Red and Black boasts, as they have not had a team for the past few years. Their baseball men, however, should be good for the dashes.

Captain Piddock has been working his men hard for the past two weeks, to make up for the two years Georgia has lost in track athletics.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

Callahan's hitting was the feature of the Nashville-New Orleans game yesterday afternoon. The game was a fast and snappy and Callahan's hit in the third drove in the only runs of the game.

The Turtles won the Sunday battle by their superior power with the stick. The game was filled with hits and the Turtles happened to get the biggest number, winning by the score of 11 to 5.

Pitcher Hogg, of the Gulls, had his winning streak broken yesterday afternoon by the hard-hitting Chattanooga crowd. He had won six straights up to today's game. Mobile had won eleven straights. Chattanooga's hard hitting, however, broke the charm.

The hitting of Jackson and the pitching of Falkenberg were the features of the Sunday battle between the Naps and the Yanks. In the first inning, with the bases full, Jackson hit a circuit maker and Schultze was taken out of the box. In his other three times at the bat Jackson got a double and two singles. At this rate he will have very little trouble in cleaning up with league batting honors this year.

A daring slide by Neal Ball in the tenth won the game for the Red Sox from the Tigers. The game was one of the fastest ever played. After Detroit had started a batting rally in the ninth and tied the score, the Red Sox got together in the tenth and made another run. Ball slid home on an infield hit by Hooper. The game was in doubt until Speaker made a daring catch in the last of the tenth and saved the day for the Champs.

The Senators lost to the Browns in their Sunday matinee on account of errors. The Senators seemed to be decidedly off color in their fielding and the Browns, with the splendid pitching of Baumgardner, got by with the big end of the score.

The White Sox took the game yesterday from the Athletics by the score of 4 to 3. The game was won on costly errors by McInnis and Baker. Ed Walsh was in the game again and except for a little weakening in the seventh he pitched good ball. McInnis knocked a homer and Strunk got a triple.

TECH ROOTERS WHO CHEERED THEIR TEAM TO VICTORY OVER GEORGIA

The Tech boys visited The Journal office Saturday night upon their return from Athens. Photographer Winn managed to get them still long enough to touch off a big flash and get this picture.

TRAVEL FAST IN LAST TWO

Cracker Bunch Has a Good Chance to Make Good Road Record by Getting Away With Majority of Games

By getting away with the final game in Montgomery the Atlanta club evened up the series with the Billikens and at the same time gave the road record a decided boost. It now stands five won and seven lost, which is not half so bad.

The biggest setback the club received was at Mobile, where four in a row were dropped. In Birmingham it was not so bad, three being won and one lost, while in Montgomery it was an even break, each club getting two games.

Before returning home the club plays four games in Memphis and three in New Orleans. This will wind up the trip, and to get a good road percentage the Crackers must take at least three games, which will give the club eight wins and eleven losses. Memphis and New Orleans should not be near so hard to crack as Mobile and Montgomery, and the team is expected to make a good showing in the last two series.

Southern Shops Win

The Southern Shops team defeated Buford yesterday on latter's grounds by score of 6 to 5.

Batteries—Shops, featured throughout. Sid Johnson won the game in the ninth with a drive to left with two on bases. Rice and Griffin of the shops also featured with hits. The former getting three two-base drives and a single out of four times to the plate.

S. Allen and Rice starred for Buford. Allen getting a home run with two on bases.

This makes the second time the Southern has defeated Buford this season.

Batteries Buford Robinson and S. Allen; Shops, Chewning and Jones.

Leaders Held Without Gain

Although there were no changes during the past week in the respective places occupied in the percentage column by the six teams of the South Atlantic league, the week's play left the clubs much more closely bunched than they were at the end of last week. Savannah and Jacksonville, leading in the pennant race, played under their previous averages, and Albany and Macon, bringing up the rear, bettered their percentages.

Fewer hits were recorded during the week, as pitchers began to round into mid-season form. At that, though, the heavy hitting that has characterized former weeks of play was still the rule, and only a tightening up of team work and a marked falling off in the number of errors all along the line kept scores uniformly low.

Savannah, by hitting in the pinches and playing almost errorless ball, won four of her six games and easily retained a good hold on first place. Jacksonville, in spite of two shut-outs and one tie game of the six played, stayed safely in the second berth. Although Columbus hit hard and made but ten errors in the six games played, they were able to nose out but three victories, leaving the club with the same percentage as at the beginning of the week. Charleston, Macon and Albany, who began and ended the week in fourth, fifth and last places, respectively, all played slightly better ball than in previous weeks.

The weather man continued to favor cities where games were played, with the result that to date sixty-three scheduled games have been played off without a single postponement. There have been three ties.

Germans Out For Blood

LONDON, May 12.—The Olympic congress at Lausanne brought out pointedly, chiefly in private conversation among its members the astounding thoroughness of the German organization for the next Olympic games in Berlin in 1916, according to advices circulated here. It is said that four departments of the German government are concerned with the organization of athletic clubs and private subscribers are contributing on a large scale.

American training methods are being closely studied and widely adopted. At the preliminary opening of the stadium Emperor William will blow this lightly organized outfit into a flame Germany will be in training and by 1916 be ready to compete in every branch of the games. As one of the Italian delegates at Lausanne said, this "explosion of athletic energy is a phenomenon of which history will have to take serious notice."

Elberton Team Wins

ELBERTON, Ga., May 12.—Elberton High school closed its season today by dropping two to Greenwood High school.

Greenwood took the first game by score of 6 to 2. Wallis, of Elberton, held G. H. S. to no hits for five innings and then weakened and the G. H. S. scored three and won the game.

Little Knocking Heard

ANNISTON, Ala., May 12.—Despite the fact that they have lost five straight games to Gadsden, the Anniston fans are not knocking the team which represents this city in the Georgia-Alabama league to any great extent. They have stuck strictly to the salary limit and were not expecting very fast ball this year. Besides the first year this city enjoyed league ball they underwent the same trial. The Gadsden club is almost as strong as it was last year, but with a reinforced pitching staff and a few more swatters, especially in the outfield, the Anniston club will come, it is believed.

TODAY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 12.—A slow rain early this morning was followed by uncertain weather while dark clouds linger under the sky, totally obscuring the sun. The diamond is slushy but if the sun comes out, the first game of the Montgomery-Birmingham series can be played this afternoon. The temperature is exceptionally low for this season.

Although Elmer Brown has been indisposed for several days Manager Dobbs expects him to be in condition to pitch today. Donohue will catch. The Birmingham club arrived on a noon train.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—Having dropped New Orleans into last place by virtue of the dividing a doubleheader at Mobile Sunday, Manager Elberfeld and his Nashville players started a four-game series with the home club today. More and Street will be Chattanooga's battery, Schlendorf or Brown with Yantz back of the plate will work for New Orleans. Manager Frank expected Finis Wilson, recently released to his club by Cleveland, to report today.

MOBILE, May 12.—Nashville will meet Mobile at the Monroe park diamond this afternoon in the first of a series of four games, the first between the clubs since the season opened. Flaherty or Williams will be on the mound for the visitors, with Noyes behind the bat. Berger is scheduled to work in the box for Mobile with Schmidt at the receiving end. Manager Schwartz, of Nashville, expects the new men to join the club before the end of the Mobile series, but will not say who they are.

ASK CHANCE FOR STOVALL

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—Petitions requesting President Johnson, of the American league, to reinstate George Stovall as manager and first baseman of the St. Louis team, were circulated here today. Several thousand persons, it was claimed, had signed the petition, which states:

"If extreme punishment should be visited on Stovall for an impulsive act, which he himself sincerely deplores, the team that he has built up would be left without a leader and the, favorable sentiment created by his efforts would go for naught. His suspension alone has been a heavy punishment, both to him and to the St. Louis team."

Smith Is Not Badly Injured

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 12.—Wallace Smith, the Atlanta third baseman, is not as badly injured as was at first thought, and may be able to play in the opening game here Monday. The big third baseman turned his ankle in turning second base in Sunday's game at Montgomery and it is today a bit sore.

The loss of Smith for any indefinite time would be a serious blow to the Atlanta squad. He is one of the best hitters on the club, while his fielding is reported as sensational. Smith's injury came the same day Bailey returned to the game and keeps the Atlanta crew in a crippled state despite Bailey's return.

Four Riders Working Out

Already Atlantians are getting the motorcycle fever. Whole crowds of them were out to see Prince's track Sunday. The people were out from the morning until late in the afternoon and expressed the greatest desire to know all about the thing. A thousand questions were asked by the curious spectators as to how fast the riders could go, when it would be done and how much it would cost. This is a good indication that the motorcycle races will take in this city.

McNeal, Lockner, Shields and Lewis, four of the most prominent riders, have arrived in the city, and were out to inspect the track Sunday. They expressed their high regard of Prince and their belief that the track will be one of the fastest in the country. McNeal was so well pleased with the track that he made the statement that he could make a mile out in 37 seconds. The bowl is being built for speed and safety and the riders are to put the best they have in their opening performance, which comes off May 24. The surface of the track will be finished by Thursday of this week and practice will begin at once.

LaGrange Team Off On Long Road Trip

LAGRANGE, Ga., May 12.—The LaGrange baseball team left LaGrange for Anniston at 5 o'clock this morning, in the best of spirits, having taken two out of the three games played with the Talladega team. They believe that they will take not less than half of the games on the road. From Anniston, after playing three games they go to Gadsden, and after three games with that team come back home for three games with Gadsden.

The LaGrange pitching staff is attracting much attention and taken all together the team measures up well with any class D team in the country.

President Holmes and a number of local fans will accompany the team on its first road trip.

Boxing Tournament

BOSTON, Mass., May 12.—Only two national champions appeared to defend their titles at the annual national amateur boxing tournament, held here last night, and both were successful. Thomas L. Regan, a local high school boy, in the 115-pound class, and Charles Askins, of Boston, in the 145-pound class, came through to the semi-finals, which will be reached today.

TEAM PLAYS IN MEMPHIS

First Trip to Tennessee City by Crackers – Will Work Brady or Chappelle in the Opening Battle

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 12.—The Atlanta team will make its bow to the Memphis fans this afternoon in their first game on the local field this year. The Crackers have been going good and should put up a good article of ball. The Tetles are going good themselves and there will be some fight when the two teams mix it here this afternoon. The Crackers are favorites here and a record crowd is expected out to see the opening fray.

Bill Chappelle, the new man that Manager Smith purchased from Chottanooga, will be behind the receiving end. He says that he is going good now and with a seasonable amount of support will get by with the big end of the score. Dunn will catch the big boy's slants.

Parsons, the local favorite, will be on the mound for the locals and Seabough will do the receiving. This is considered the star battery of the Memphis team and local fans are counting on taking the opener.

Atlanta Split With Dobbers During Series

Harry Welchonce Largely Responsible for Victory on Sunday–Made Four Hits in as Many Times at Bat

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 12.—Atlanta made it a neven break for the series yesterady, when they took the big end of a heavy batting game. The Crackers went after Bagby in the first inning. Long making a circuit hit after Bagby had two strikes on him. Welchonce also hit the pellet for the four-bag degree.

The Crackers got thirteen hits off the Montgomery pitchers and Price gave up only six. these being scattered. The game was full of features and was one of the best that has been played in this city this year. Welchonce was the real star of the game. Every time that he went to bat it meant a hit for the Crackers. He got one homer, one double and two singles. His fielding was decidedly the feature of the game.

Wallie Smith, after hitting to the fence, hrt his ankle while rounding second and had to be taken off the field. He sprained his ankle and barely recovered the base in time to be called safe. Up to the sixth Montgomery had only one man as far as second base, but in this one the Billikens scored one on Ware's hit to the center garden and a wild throw by Price. The Crackers worked well together and seemed to have gotten an unusual amount of life into the game. This seems to have been the cause of the losing streak of the Crackens. Breen, Kutina and Gribbens were the stars for the Billikens.

Americus Mgr. Given the Can

AMERICUS, Ga., May 12.—Manager Harry Weber, of the Americus club of the Empire State league, was deposed by the directors today, and the club left this afternoon for Waycross in charge of First Baseman Hal Griffith. Americus is in last place in the league standing and the Americus fans ascribed the team's poor showing in the race to its management. To date the Americus club has won but two games in nine played.

ROW BIG RACES.
OVER OURSE TODAY &

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 12.—The Harvard-Princeton and University of Pennsylvania varsity crews were ready to row late today the one and seven-eighths mile course on the Charles river basin, which was postponed last Saturday because of weather conditions. The contest was scheduled to start at 5 p. m., and it was believed that by that time the wind which prevented the race Saturday would have subsided.

Specials Down Scouts

The Marist Specials are still itraveling at a fast clip. Their last victims were the Boy Scouts, Camp 3, who were drubbed 9 to 0.

Perry Adair's work at third for the Specials was the brightest of many bright spots in their fielding game, while the battery work of Diddell and Wrigley for the same team was invincible.

The Marist boys had good stuff but could not connect when hits meant runs.

McCarty Begins to Train

CALGARY, Alberta, May 12.—Luther Mcarty, who meets Arthur Pelkey in a ten-round bout on May 24, arrived last night from New York. He will get into good shape in two weeks, he said. He will open training quarters this afternoon.

Pelkey has been working with Tommy Burns for ten days and already is showing the form which won him fame.

Odds have shortened to 10 to 7, with McCarty the choice.

Tennis Title Decided

TUXEDO, N. Y., May 12.—H. H. Hackett and R. D. Little, together with N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney, the Beverly pair, won the singles title today in the continuation of the round robin tennis doubles. The former pair which is favored for a place on the American Davis cup team, composed of William A. Larned, former national champion, and R. D. Wrenn. Then the Bostonians defeated W. J. Clothier, of Philadelphia, and C. F. Watson, Jr.

BROOKLYN'S TEAMWORK GAME'S BIGGEST SURPRISE

NEW YORK, May 12.—Followers of major league baseball, particularly those chiefly interested in the National league situation, have been treated to a series of thrills during the past week. These must have been pleasurable if their sympathies lay with the Brooklyns, whose surprising rise of the week before was continued with a spurt which took them from fourth place to second; or the reverse if one's hopes were fixed on the Pittsburgs, whose remarkable slump was accelerated with a jolt downward to within a few points of the Bostons, no profited chiefly by the Pirates' fall.

The sensation of the week in the American league was furnished by the New Yorks. Chandler's erratic band, after having been maltreated consistently by the eastern clubs, jumped west, and in the bracing air of Detroit reeled off three victories out of four starts, winning more games in one series than they had all season before.

A glance at the National league situation as a whole shows Philadelphia, although fought to a standstill by St. Louis in the recent series, still going at a speedy clip and showing no signs of collapse. The Brooklyns are going strongly for the lead, however, and the coming week may witness a shift.

If Chicago has lost "the edge" it traditionally has had on New York when the two teams met, their first clash of this season gave no evidence of it. There is something sadly amiss with the McGraw combination. Instead of "getting the jump" on the other teams by entering the race highly conditioned and cantering away, the New Yorks, after more than a month of play, find themselves in fifth place in the pennant struggle. There are apparently few, however, who expect the team's slump to continue much longer.

The St. Louis pitchers are holding Huggins' team well up in the race. Cincinnati's main trouble is weakness at the receiving end of the battery, since to hand, the Boston twirlers are delivering well just now for Stallings.

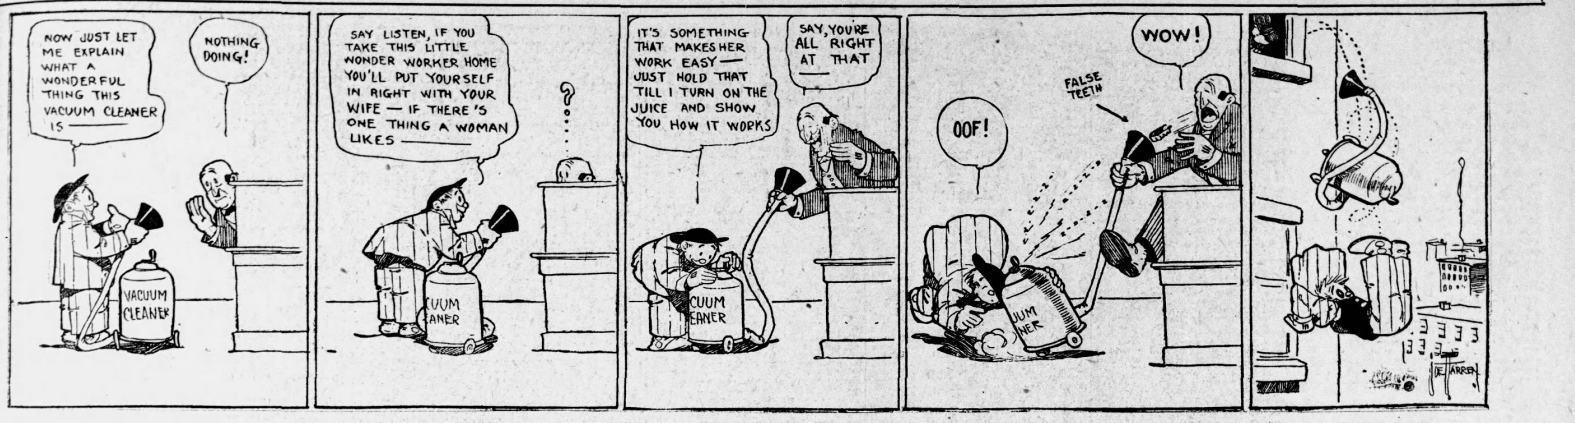

American league conditions show fewer changes than the National. No one seems able to stop the Athletics to any appreciable extent, and this is one of the few clubs that has run true to pre-season prediction. Washington may be said to be another. The week's play as a whole found that team about holding its own.

Chicago and St. Louis also played on even terms during the week, each club dropping three and winning two. St. Louis is better placed in the race than has been generally expected, but the Red Sox are close behind.

In Detroit Hugh Jennings has a problem on his hands that may be even more difficult to solve than Frank Chance's with New York. Box weakness the Tigers' main complaint, although the infield problem is worrying him as it is Chance. Obviously, Jennings could use Hal Chase. It may be taken for granted that it will take a decidedly good offer to separate Chance from the noted first sacker, even if Chase is in the throes of a pronounced playing slump just at this time.

Brooklyn Surprise of National--Mackmen Showing Class

KNOBS ALMOST HAD ONE OF HIS VACUUM CLEANERS SOLD---BUT! BY FARREN

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

As we have risen or remained seated—to remark before, it doesn't take the tide long to veer in this game, once it gets started.

Some six weeks ago down at Hot Springs, Ark., where the baths come from, there were two ball clubs grappling for the spring training stake. One was the Pittsburg Pirates. The other was the Boston Red Sox. One had won a world's championship the fall before. The other was touted to romp home with the N. L. pennant for the year ahead.

As we recall certain peppery interviews given out during that series Managers Clarke and Stahl were each confident that the other would win and that they would meet again for higher honors in the fall. The Red Sox, according to Fred Clarke, were considerable ball club, the Pirates, according to Stahl, were certainly there and much stronger than the Giants.

No one placed Pittsburg any lower than second in the National and no one ranked the Red Sox any lower than second in the American. They may finish this well—or better yet. But not at their present rate of speed. The Pirates, with all their promised power and push have been playing second division ball since the barrier was lifted. So have the Red Sox, who will now require a miracle to overtake either the Athletics or Senators. No two clubs ever opened with greater promise to topple with such a splash.

Both clubs have been assailed by a carload of trouble. Wagner's early injury and absence left the Pirates griping from the soup trough before April was a fortnight old. The Red Sox infield has also been tern asunder, with Joe Wood practically useless. Pittsburg may rally and come on through. But the Red Sox have a fearful roadbed ahead over which they must struggle to yank by the Mackian avalanche. The only clubs now booked with a prospect of achieving this stunt are Washington and Cleveland—and the odds against them are great.

No club in either league was playing any better baseball than Washington when Foster and Gandil were struck down. These two people are stars of more than average luminosity. For an infield to lose a pair of this calibre even for a brief spell is a rough-house blow. If Griff can keep his men up there in close sight until the sick and wounded recover he will certainly be in at the death.

It is hard for even a rival townsman to keep from pulling for Joe Tinker to win. In the face of the toughest break that ever confronted a manager the ex-Cub is fighting on with all the fire and smash of a victorious leader. Constant thumping hasn't even started to curb his spirit and in the long run this sort of fighting will tell.

Tinker not only hasn't quit. He isn't going to. A young leader or a new one, who can bump into the harassing misfortune which assailed him through the first month and take it all as a part of the game without a squawk is an unusual type. We believed back in mid-winter that Tinker would make a fine manager. We have more faith in his ultimate success today than we had then, despite the fact that he is at the off-side end of the parade.

The new Red leader happened to be caught without a pitching staff. The veterans upon whom he depended blew with a terrific detonation ten minutes after the campaign opened. Bad pitching will break up any club—except the Athletics—and when Joe Fayersham is able to build up his shooting gallery the rest of it will come.

Tinker hasn't the job that Chance faces. Three first-class pitching additions would put Joe up among the elite. Chance needs that and as many more infielders and then something.

A year ago in mid-May the Giants had won 18 games and dropped 4. But that was May, 1912, not May 1913.

And the queer part of it is that the Giants of 1913 look 25 per cent better on copy paper than the Giants of 1912. The only kink here is that very few ball games are ever waged exclusively upon copy paper, even though said copy paper is a mid-season form.

We are willing to concede Hans Wagner's last day in baseball upon the occasion of hearing the lid clamped down upon his lifeless form. Even then it's only an even bet if the funeral march is pointed pegging distance of a ball park.

CLAMORING FOR RICHIE TO GET OUT AND SHOW WORTH

Champion Has Been Almost in Retirement Since Taking the Highest Boxing Honors in His Class

NEW YORK, May 12.—The demand for Willie Ritchie to emerge from behind the footlights and show his true worth in the ring is growing apace of late. Ritchie has been allowed to possess his laurels in peace until recently. Sporting writers the country over have exercised surprising patience in dealing with him. After his victory over Wolgast it was felt that he was entitled to a rest, and when he announced that he would devote some attention to the stage before fighting again his ultimatum was accepted with but little adverse comment.

But recent developments make it expedient for Ritchie to come forth without delay and defend his title in actual combat if he wishes to avoid being discredited. Now that Tommy Murphy has proved beyond all doubt that Wolgast has retrogressed the question arises whether Ritchie's present standing is not little more to the fact than to any remarkable talent on his own part.

The exact amount of Ritchie's ability has never been very clearly established, for his record is too short to be the means of basing a certain opinion regarding his prowess. It was not even thought worthy to be placed in the record books until the title came into his possession. And for all that his past performances show to the contrary he may be just an ordinarily clever boxer of no especial attainments. Certainly it does not show him to compare favorably with the champions of the past.

Not counting the four round bouts of his preliminary days, Ritchie has taken part in just an even dozen battles. Of these he has won four and lost three, the rest being no decision affairs. He has only scored one knockout, and that was over Yankee Schwartz, a third rater.

The bout that first attracted attention to Ritchie resulted in his defeat. That was his affair with Freddie Welsh, whom he outweighed an even ten pounds. His next contest worthy of note was his bout with Young Erne, whom he outpointed by a small margin in six rounds. Erne is a notorious in and outer who had frequently been beaten by men of little calibre. Then came Ritchie's four round bout with Wolgast. Although the then champion had just recovered from a serious operation he twice flattened Ritchie and almost knocked him out.

Ritchie was still comparatively unknown when he caused a mild sensation by outpointing Joe Mandot, in a ten round bout. But it has since been shown that Mandot is but a second rater. At that he outboxed Ritchie most of the way and would have been an easy winner had not Ritchie got over a lucky swing that turned the tide in his favor. How he won the title from Ad Wolgast on a foul is too well known to need recounting. Undoubtedly Ritchie had the "Michigan Wildcat" pretty well tamed at the time, so he can safely be credited with being Wolgast's superior. However, there is probably half a dozen or more who could defeat Wolgast now.

It is also worthy of note that Ritchie is least popular where he is best known.

GIRLS ALLOWED TO BOX BUT MUST USE PROTECTORS

A hard right hook to the stomach which didn't jar the victim.

Guy Otis Brewster is going down in history as the friend of every athletic young woman, every suffragette who insists she is man's physial and mental equal. He has shown them how to learn to box and won the approval of several teachers who disapproved this exercise for young women. He has invented a mask for the head so beauty won't be marred by hard blows, and one for the chest and stomach so there will be no danger from body punches.

Mr. Brewster is the physical instructor of public schools in Wharton, N. J. Long ago he was convinced that boxing, one of the finest of exercises for men, ought to be made possible for women. He constructed his masks and has introduced them among the pupils. The result has been that the brothers are more careful in Whatron what they say to their sisters. Most siters pack about right and left hooks and swings and a hard right upper cut.

To prove his success Mr. Brewster got several of his pupils to give a demonstration before a meeting of the Physical Education society. The girls fought vigorously. They swung with right and left to body an jaw, and uppercut with al their vigor. Blows which taxed their strength fell harmless on the wire protectirs and the victims only laughed an plunged in for more. It was a revelation, and the teachers, those of them who were not incurably conservative, at once endorsed the Brewster plan. As a result it may be introduced in many schools throughout the country.

Watermen Now Showing Form

If Amateur Stars Had Been in as Good Form at Olympic, They Would Have Won

NEW YORK, May 12.—Otto Wahle, chairman of the swimming committee of the Amateur Athletic union, recently made the statement that had the American watermen who competed last summer in the Olympic games at Stockholm shown the form exhibited by them during the present indoor season the point trophy in aquatics would have fallen to their lot.

In glancing over the year's results one becomes convinced that the statement of Mr. Wahle is warranted. Not only did the sprinters improve steadily throughout the winter months, but the distance men, so woefully weak in Sweden, also developed.

The work of Percy McGillivray, of the Illinois Athletic club, of Chicago, was especially noteworthy, for, in spite of competing in every event on the championship list, from fifty yards to one mile, he was able to establish new figures at 440 and 500 yards, which, besides wiping out the home standards, shaded the performances at these distances of George Hodgson, of Canada, the Olympic champion, at 400 meters.

Next to McGillivray the most brilliant performers were his clubmates, A. C. Raithel and Harry Hebner. Raithel scored in the sprints, and Hebner in back stroke swimming.

The iconoclastic feats were not confined to the open field, and it is significant of the progress extending through every class of swimming that the intercollegiate and interscholastic records were swept off the board without sparing a single one.

TEEING PLAT NEW STUNT

NEW YORK, May 12.—A novel teeing ground has been built at the tenth hole at the Shawnee Country club. The tee is about ninety feet long and extends across the course diagonally. It has been fashioned into the side of a ridge and gives a natural appearance. Out in front there is a diagonal mound extending almost at right angles from the ground and half way across the course. Golf says that the removal of the disks on the tee varies the distance to the hazard from 180 to 200 yards.

A cautious player who elects to go round the hazard makes his second shot accordingly difficult, for there is a trap guarding the green on the right which calls for a shot of delicacy and accuracy when approached from the right. On the other hand, the golfer who has nerve enough to attempt the diagonal hazard also simplifies his second shot. The Binnikill river runs to the left of the hole, so that to over-approach the green is to court disaster.

English Star as Coach at Pennsy

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—It is understood that the University of Pennsylvania may have Vivian Nickalls, one of the most skillful amateur scullers ever graduated from the River Thames, in England, as coach for its rowing crews, to succeed Ward. According to information received at the University of Pennsylvania, the Detroit Boat club probably will lose Nickalls, and the Red and Blue crews are counting upon the British oarsman instructing them in his famous methods.

Nickalls has been very successful in the application of his sculling methods to sweep rowing and is considered one of the best all round oarsmen in the country.

Take a Chalmers Ride

There's a difference between a Chalmers ride and merely an automobile ride.

Just as there's a difference between train rides. You know that the "Limited" is more comfortable, smoother riding than the "accommodation."

Just as there is a difference between horses. You know that a thoroughbred — mettlesome, trained, perfectly-gaited — is more pleasurable to ride than a poorly bred "tough mouth."

So is the self-cranking, light-footed, powerful, luxurious Chalmers more pleasureable than other cars.

The powerful long stroke motor pulls smoothly on any road, steadily up any hill. A walking pace when you want to loaf; express train speed when you require it.

The four-forward speed transmission gives the flexibility which makes handling easy. You creep through heavy traffic or scoot over the hills without constant gear shifting.

The large wheels and tires, long wheel base, long, flexible springs eliminate the jolts. You sit back in the Turkish cushions and 11-inch upholstery of the roomy seats as comfortably as in your chair on the "limited."

When you drive a Chalmers, the mechanism is forgotten, except as you sense its power and resiliency. You have only to steer—and enjoy.

That's a Chalmers ride—enjoyment. Enjoyment from the time you take your seat even to the end of a long day's touring. No hand-cranking, no mechanical annoyances, no pumping of tires, no fatigue—just light-hearted satisfaction. You haven't known the full pleasures of motoring unless you've had a Chalmers ride.

May we show you the comforts and conveniences of driving and riding in a Chalmers car? No matter what car has been your choice heretofore, the Chalmers will be a revelation to you.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 4 to 6 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 12.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of three points, to a decline of one point. New crop positions were relatively easy on reports of scattering showers in the eastern belt, and prospects for more. The old crop was evidently influenced by continued nervousness over the shipments from the local stock. Business was not at all active being restricted by the holiday in Liverpool, but the market held steady, during the early trading and ruled about net unchanged to three points higher.

The early reaction on shower predictions carried the market off to about a shade under Saturday's closing, but prices firmed up again on private reports of frost in North Carolina and detailed weather reports showing unseasonably low temperatures. Trading continued quiet but the market ruled about two to three points net higher.

The market became more active during the early afternoon and prices made new high ground for the movement on short covering on fresh buying by room traders. Within a few months selling about nine to twelve points net higher. Detailed weather report confirming unseasonable low temperatures seemed largely responsible for the advance.

Washington forecast for week: West of Mississippi river generally fair; weather east of river, local showers first part of week; fair week; generally fair second half. Normal temperature.

Selma, Ala., says light but general rains throughout central Alabama have proven of great benefit to growing cotton and corn crops. Liverpool exchanges closed.

Bradstreet's Iron and Works mills will close for an indefinite period beginning today. This will reduce weeks shipment 70,000 pieces weekly. Other curtailment is under consideration.

Dallas says Oklahoma, east, cloudy; threatening; western fair; Texas fair; no blizzard.

May shows cloudy eastern half belt, generally fair western half, rather general light showers northwestern quarter. Good rain Abilene, Waco, Fort Worth. No rain west. Warm everywhere except North Carolina, where unseasonably cool. Indications are for continued unsettled showery weather Alabama and South Atlantic states, especially far elsewhere.

Memphis says Arkansas and Tennessee generally cloudy, warmer tonight in east portion.

Oklahoma—Tonight and Tuesday generally cloudy.

East Texas—Tonight and Tuesday generally fair, light to moderate southerly winds on coast.

West Texas—Tonight and Tuesday generally fair.

Kentucky—Unsettled, probably followed by showers tonight or Tuesday; warmer tonight.

Georgia, Alabama—Clouds and showers tonight or Tuesday, warmer tonight.

North Carolina—Fair, warmer tonight.

Tennessee—Unsettled weather, probably showers tonight or Tuesday, warmer tonight.

Mississippi—Showers tonight and Tuesday.

Louisiana—Tonight and Tuesday increasing cloudiness, showers in southeast portion tonight or Tuesday, light northeast winds on the coast.

Texas—Tonight, light, right inclined to sell. There is little change in sentiment.

Several prominent operators from the south are in the city and I understand are talking bull. After the call Hentz, Cone, O'Connor, Hubbard and Schier privately talked bull. Geo. Sheerson, Rice and Lehman leading bears.

Riordan has been fair buyer, some scattered short covering, trading light and very narrow. Montgomery reported rains greater part of Alabama. Looks like more.

Bradstreet's weekly crop circular: Facts show that temperatures have been favorable to crops generally, while rains were in excess of needs in western states, and practically absent in eastern belt, they were just about right in Mississippi valley and last week's precipitations have been favorable over the entire belt. Showers have been general over the southern belt, since the date reached by this circular.

Texas has had a general wave of buying led by Schier at noon.

New Orleans—Market steady on strength of July New York which was the only active option. Bulls claimed that cotton could not make satisfactory growth under such temperatures. The market gradually recovered and at noon the trading months stood 2 to 4 points up, compared with the final figures of Saturday.

THE WEATHER

Forecast till 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Atlanta and vicinity: Showers tonight or Tuesday.

Georgia and Alabama—Showers tonight or Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The atmospheric pressure is moderately high in the entire southern states, the lowest area except in the east gulf states, where light showers occurred during the past 24 hours. A moderate storm is central over northern Manitoba, which is also accompanied by showers in the upper Mississippi valley. The upper currents are therefore slightly favorable for showers in the southern states, but not elsewhere.

A second storm of some force exists over the middle Pinteau region, with the lowest atmospheric pressure 29.72 inches at Salt Lake City, Utah. This is accompanied by showers on the South Pacific coast and in the Missouri valley.

Temperatures remain moderately low in the north and west as in the eastern portion of the cotton belt. Frosts are reported from Rapid City, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Toledo, and in the northwest at Bismarck.

Very light showers are indicated for tonight or Tuesday.

Section Director.

THE WEATHER

Forecast till 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Atlanta and vicinity: Showers tonight or Tuesday.

Georgia and Alabama—Showers tonight or Tuesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The atmospheric pressure is moderately high in the entire southern states, the lowest area except in the east gulf states, where light showers occurred during the past 24 hours. A moderate storm is central over northern Manitoba, which is also accompanied by showers in the upper Mississippi valley. The upper currents are therefore slightly favorable for showers in the southern states, but not elsewhere.

A second storm of some force exists over the middle Pinteau region, with the lowest atmospheric pressure 29.72 inches at Salt Lake City, Utah. This is accompanied by showers on the South Pacific coast and in the Missouri valley.

Temperatures remain moderately low in the north and west as in the eastern portion of the cotton belt. Frosts are reported from Rapid City, Pittsburg, Buffalo, Toledo, and in the northwest at Bismarck.

Very light showers are indicated for tonight or Tuesday.

Section Director.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Poultry at the Agricultural College and the Experiment Station

THE state of Georgia and the officials connected with the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station two years ago showed an inclination to help the poultry interest of this state and a small amount of money was set aside to maintain two departments at these stations. But, for some reason the interest in these two important things connected with the welfare of our state are not getting the encouragement and support that they should have. While the poultry interest of Georgia in the estimation of many is a small item, yet if the actual figures were properly compiled showing the amount involved and the necessity of looking after this interest was brought before the public the people would be surprised to know in dollars and cents how much it represents and of how much importance it is for us to know more about this industry.

The poultry industry is one of the things that has been sadly neglected in Georgia, and of all the different lines of industries that need enlightenment on the subject of and help to get out of it results that are being obtained by many other states this section is one that should be looked after. It means millions of dollars to this state to produce more poultry and eggs in it. It means probably the helping of a larger number of people of all classes than possibly any other one line of work that could be taken up. There is certainly room for education in this line, and who are we to look to for it outside of our Experiment Station and College of Agriculture? It seems necessary that a certain amount of money be set aside or expended on this work and give the people of Georgia the information they are entitled to. The tax money that is collected and a certain per cent of it appropriated to help educate the people on different farm topics will soon show a return. The money appropriated for these departments is I will admit very essential, but the people who are interested in poultry are just as much entitled to their proportional part be set aside for this work and it will help probably ten people to one more to know something about poultry than it does many of the other lines that this money is now being expended for.

The farmers and the people generally of this state need quick action and help from something that will put money in their pockets immediately just as much as they do in years to come, and poultry being something that reproduces quickly and will help so large a number of people and give quick returns this work should be more thoroughly looked after than it is at the present time. The farmers need help and some way by which they can produce money and get returns as quickly as possible, and to neglect this work longer means the loss of thousands of dollars to our country. It has been voted by the board of directors at Griffin to do away with the poultry department there for the want of funds. On the other hand thousands of dollars are being used for other purposes at this station that will never bring one-tenth the amount in returns or help so large a number of people as this poultry work would. The small amount of money that is appropriated at the College of Agriculture is hardly a drop in the bucket compared to what should be set aside for this work at Athens. Take for instance, there are thousands of dollars and a number of men at work on the soil survey of this state. While this may be of much importance, still it will be many years before it will really bring much returns to this state, and how few will take advantage of this work after they have been enlightened on this subject. I believe it is a good thing but I do not believe that our people are ready for it yet. I do not believe we can be taught Latin before we learn our A, B, C's, and to fully understand how to get results after we have obtained this information on our soils will take time and lots of study to bring back to this country in proportion a sufficient amount of income compared to the expense it is now costing the state.

Yours very truly,

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

TERMINAL DISTRICT

ONE of the best opportunities in Atlanta real estate today is in the large section lying in between the Southern and A., B. & A. railroad. This section is about four blocks wide and it extends from Magnolia street out as far as Bellwood avenue.

IN THIS QUARTER you can buy good sized pieces of land, improved with renting houses, property that yields a fair time income and has speculative possibilities.

AS AN ILLUSTRATION, we can sell the southeast corner of Magnolia and Mangum streets, fronting 106 feet on Mangum street, for $7,500. This lot contains six buildings, five residences, and a store, bringing in $60 a month. It is one of those good corners that in time will be necessary in assembling a block of land, and will bring a fancy price.

ON SIMPSON STREET we can sell an entire block of frontage for $9,000. It lies in between Davis and Edwards streets, fronting 214 feet on Simpson street and extending back 150 feet. All three streets are paved and have all improvements down. This is the block with the old stone house on it.

HERE is a choice little factory site bordering directly on A., B. & A. railroad, the southwest corner of Fox and Wilson streets. It fronts 220 feet on the railroad and has three renting houses. Price $2,500.

WEST SIDE values are low in comparison with other sections, and they are sure to go up in the process of equalization. All forward-looking men should lay in a few west side investments for future use.

RUMOR THAT FRANK MARRIED IN BROOKLYN NOT TRUE, SAYS EAGLE

another jury has "no billed" their cases before they would be released.

A grand jury is composed of not more than twenty-three nor less than eighteen members. Practically always the maximum number is selected by the court, for with twenty-three men sworn, a grand jury can then allow five of its members to remain away from sessions if they so desire, and still perform its functions.

TWELVE MUST VOTE TO INDICT.

Twelve of the eighteen grand juror, who must be present, must vote in favor of an indictment before a "true bill" can be returned. The indictment requires twelves votes, whether eighteen or twenty-three jurors are present when it is considered.

While it is not customary, if the grand jurors themselves so desire, they can have a defendant before it if he wishes to make a statement, or they can hear the testimony of any witnesses for the defense, or listen to the arguments of any attorney for the defense. As a rule, however, the grand jury simply considers the state's case and leaves it to a superior court jury to decide when the evidence to be introduced by the defense is stronger than that of the state.

DETECTIVE LEAVES TOWN.

That the mysterious detective to whom Solicitor General Dorsey was quoted as referring last week in the investigation of the murder of Mary Phagan, is an out-of-town man was indicated by the solicitor himself Monday morning.

"He left town last Friday," said the solicitor, "and while he was here he did very valuable work. It is possible that he may be called back into the case."

Further than that, he would say nothing about the case. He declined to state whether the evidence unearthed by the unknown detective strengthened the case against the two men who have been before the grand jury, or whether it led in some new direction.

WHO WROTE NOTES?

Mr. Dorsey would not state whether or not the man's work is complete. It is probable that the "famous detective," although Mr. Dorsey does not discuss the point, will not return unless some one is brought to trial for the Phagan murder.

The detectives worked on all phases of the case and not particularly in an effort to strengthen the case either of the men held by the coroner's jury, according to the solicitor.

It is said that at the detective's suggestion the solicitor has secured handwriting experts, who offer the opinion that the letters found by the girl's body were not written by Lee. This conflicts with the opinions of several local handwriting experts.

Mr. Dorsey confirmed The Journal's published statement that the public knows now all of the important facts in the case. "Nothing new or sensational has been developed," said he.

VISITED BY WIFE.

Mrs. Leo M. Frank went to the tower on Sunday afternoon, paying her first visit to her husband since his arrest nearly two weeks ago. Mrs. Frank came to the jail with her father, Emile Selig, of 68 East Georgia avenue, about 5 o'clock, and they were admitted to the assembly room on the first floor. Mr. Frank was brought down from his cell on the second floor and he chatted with his wife and his father-in-law for nearly an hour.

Soon after his arrest Mrs. Frank called at police headquarters, but Mr. Frank at that time was being examined by the detectives, and she left without seeing him.

Mr. Frank had a number of visitors during the day, among them being Luther Z. Rosser, his chief counsel, and a number of friends who attended Cornell university with him.

HAS LEE TOLD ALL?

The status of Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, in the Phagan investigation is not yet definite, it appears. There exists some uncertainty as to just how directly he will be held for the crime.

"I have not been able to satisfy myself that the negro is not connected with it in some way," said Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford Monday. "I don't know just what his connection is, but he knows more than he has told."

Mr. Frank is receiving the same treatment accorded practically all white prisoners at the tower, and in the matter of diet is not forced to eat the meals prepared at the jail. As a result his meals are prepared at his home on East Georgia avenue and sent to him by special messenger three times a day.

Sunday was far from a day of rest for the detectives and officials who are seeking the solution of the Phagan murder mystery. During the day Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey held conferences with Chief of Police Beavers and several other officials, and the detectives, who have been detailed to the case, went to all parts of the city, running down rumors.

No new clews and no evidence of marked importance have been unearthed, and the detectives are devoting their activity largely to elimination of seemingly conflicting evidence and to the securing of witnesses to corroborate details of the statements of the principal state's witnesses.

The detectives are using every effort to get the case in shape for presentation to the Fulton county grand jury, which will probably take up the Phagan investigation during the next ten days.

"FIND THE MURDERER."

Interesting in the case is the status of the Pinkerton detectives, who were employed soon after the tragedy by the National Pencil company to solve the mystery. Recently Pinkerton officials went to officers of the National Pencil company, it is said, and asked if the pencil company desired them to continue the investigation. It was then, according to a report, that Luther Z. Rosser, counsel for the company and for Leo M. Frank, who is held by order of the coroner's jury, told the Pinkertons to continue the probe.

"Find the murderer," Mr. Rosser is quoted as saying.

"Let the chips fall where they may. You are employed to hunt the murderer until he is found and convicted, it matters not who is guilty."

The Pinkertons are co-operating with the local city detective department, and Superintendent Harry Scott, who has been on the case from the first, now has five men in the field, who are pursuing a vigorous investigation of the mystery.

WITNESSES EXAMINED.

On Monday Solicitor General Dorsey again devoted practically his entire time to the Phagan investigation. He was closeted most of the da ywith Detectives Campbel and Starnes and together they interviewed a number of witnesses. Among them were several employes of the factory, notably Herbert J. Schiff, assistant to Superintendent Frank, M. B. Darley and E. T. Holoway, the day watchman at the factory.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE SHOOTING OF PRISONER

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 12.—Calling attention to the lawlessness which has obtained in the county and specifying the "ruthless shooting down of a helpless prisoner in the county jail," Judge Brown today convened the grand jury in special session. He referred to the report that some obscure negro prisoner in a convict camp was severely beaten by a guard or warden and died from the injuries.

The jury was called principally to probe the shooting of Bernard Tarver, a negro prisoner, in the jail last Monday, by W. J. Fuller, an attorney.

Judge Brown remarked that there have been nine homicides in this county and a number of assaults since the grand jury last met.

under way Monday morning under the direction of Mr. Orr and Rev. Jere Moore, in room 512 Empire building. A corps of clerks was actively at work in this room and also in a room tendered them in the chamber of commerce headquarters. The one room engaged for the purpose proved inadequate for taking care of the force of workers, and the chamber gave to them it could.

The matter of "booking" every guest in order that they may be reached at all times, has been systematized thoroughly and there can not be the remotest chance of confusion in handling and housing the thousands of guests to whom Atlanta has opened her doors. More than enough room has been tendered to them, so it is assured that all will be cared for as they arrive.

A printed form is forwarded to every home in the city whose representative has signified its intention of taking care of one or more commissioners, with the name or names written thereon and the information that the guest will notify his host upon arrival. A duplicate of this will be given to the visitor, and no trouble should be experienced by him in finding his home during the brief stay in Atlanta.

Unique Sunday School Missionary Mass Meeting

In connection with the coming of the Presbyterian general assemblies to Atlanta, there will be held on Sunday afternoon, May 18, at 3 o'clock, in the Central Presbyterian church, Washington street, opposite the state capitol, a Sunday school missionary mass meeting. This meeting will be one of the *most interesting features of the assem*blies, and will make particular appeal to all Sunday school workers. It will be a rare opportunity for the residents of Atlanta and vicinity.

The meeting is unibue, in that its purpose is somewhat different from that of the ordinary missionary meeting. It will be an actual demonstration of platform *missionary instruction in the Sun*day school. Rev. A. L. Phillips, D.D., general superintendent of the department of Sabbath schools and young people's societies of the Presbyterian church in the United States, will preside.

There will be a brief address on "The Value of Missionary Education in the Sunday School," by Rev. Charles R. Watson, D.D., of Philadelphia. This will be followed by a demonstration of "A Missionary Opening Exercise" for the Sunday school, entitled "America's Welcome," the theme of which is immigration. It will be presented by a number of young people of the Central Presbyterian church, and is very effective. Other features of the program will be the demonstration of how, in five minutes or less, to advertise a missionary; how to make the Sunday school so to insure its being real, how to make a telling missionary speech to a Sunday school, and how to present a missionary map talk effectively. These items will be presented respectively by Mrs. D. E. Waid, of New York; Mr. George Innes, of Philadelphia, and Rev. A. W. Halsey, D.D., of New York. There will be a large chorus and special music under the direction of Prof. Joseph MacLean, organist of Central church.

At the close of the demonstration of methods, there will be a brief after meeting, when opportunity will be given for questions and discussion of missionary instruction in the Sunday school, under the leadership of Rev. George H. Trull, of New York.
